ULSTER REFUSES TO SURRENDER

Statement Issued After Meeting of Ulster Cabinet Members Today

Lloyd George to Submit Report Outlining Negotiations With Sinn Feiners

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—A statement issued after this morning's meeting of the Ulster cabinet members here concluded as follows:

"Sir James Craig (the premier) on behalf of the cabinet of Northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

The statement promised by Premier Lloyd George outlining the negotiations with the Sinn Fein representatives had not been received by the representatives of Ulster this forenoon, but Mr. Lloyd George sent word he hoped to be able to supply it during the afternoon.

The British cabinet met at noon and it was announced that another meeting of the northern Ireland cabinet would be called as soon as the detailed statement was received.

Mr. Lloyd George meanwhile suggested that his meeting with the Ulster cabinet go over until Friday.

The Ulster communique indicated that without the British premier's statement, the Ulster cabinet was unable to make formal reply to the government. The text of the communique said:

"An apology to Sir James Craig was received from Mr. Lloyd George stating his inability, owing to pressure of work, to supply the detailed statement of the proposals promised by him yesterday. He hoped, however, it would be possible for him to furnish the statement this afternoon, and he suggested the meeting of the northern cabinet with him should be deferred until Friday."

GARAGE BURKEN INTO
The garage of William S. Bailey at North Tewksbury was broken into sometime last night or early this morning and a considerable amount of automobile accessories were stolen, the local police were notified today. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. Two tires, three tubes, about 15 cans of grease, spark plugs, pistons and other auto parts were taken. A search for the culprits is being made.

ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR THOMPSON

Three years ago tomorrow, Nov. 11, the guns of the conflicting armies stretched along the battle lines of Europe were stilled. Millions of hearts and voices were raised in thanks to Almighty God for the armistice that brought rest and hopes of peace to the war torn nations of the world.

No day stands out more vividly in the minds of the American people than Armistice Day, and the date of November 11th, 1918, and its successive anniversaries will always be marked by appropriate ceremonies in honor of those men, living and dead, who served their country in the war for democracy, and by expressions of thankfulness that from the armistice sprang peace.

THEREFORE, do I make proclamation, as Mayor of the City of Lowell, that it is most befitting that the people of our city pause tomorrow and reflect upon the events of that epochal day of three years ago and pay all homage to those men whose noble sacrifices made possible the termination of history's most devastating conflict.

(Signed)

PERRY D. THOMPSON,
Mayor of Lowell.

VISITING INSPECTOR PAYS LOWELL VERY FINE COMPLIMENT

Representative of Mutual Inspection Bureau Well Satisfied With Conditions Here—Will Complete Inspection Here This Week

Lowell is the cleanest city in New England, according to Chief Inspector H. R. Flanders of the Mutual Inspection Bureau of New England, who with inspectors H. C. Goddard, C. E. Hogan and G. C. Goldthwait, is completing a thorough inspection of the business and residential sections of the city. The four inspectors have been at work in Lowell nearly a month and are now cleaning up a few remaining cases. The inspection is made every four years by representatives of the Mutual Inspection Bureau, with headquarters at Salem, an organization consisting of all the mutual companies in New England. A tour of the farms and outlying districts is made during the summer months, while in the fall and winter the inspectors conduct a careful examination of the cities proper.

While in Lowell the visitors have been making their headquarters at the office of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Central block, of which Joseph Peabody is president. A thorough inspection of the city will be completed by the inspectors at the end of the week, with headquarters at Salem.

Lawyer in Sacco-Vanzetti Case Risks Life to Rescue Important Papers

QUINCY, Nov. 10.—Miss Myra Lester, living on the third floor of the Durgin & Morrill building in City square, assisted 17 other occupants of apartments there to escape during a fire early today. The flames cut off egress by fire escape and all except one of the men and women had to reach an adjoining building over the roof. One woman, Mrs. Gilbert Thompson, was assisted down the stairways by firemen.

The fire started in the Quincy department store, on the street floor and caused damage estimated at $75,000, confined mostly to the store. Offices and apartments on the upper floors were damaged by smoke.

J. J. McAnarney, of counsel for the defense in the trial of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti for murder, had offices on the second floor. When it appeared at one time that the building might be destroyed, Mr. McAnarney went through the smoke and rescued papers of importance in the case from his safe.

AMERICAN LEGION'S OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Local Post Will Fire National Salute From North Common—Exercises at City Hall and Merrimack Square

The feature of Lowell's observance of Armistice day tomorrow will be the exercises conducted by the American Legion. This includes the firing of the national salute of 21 guns on the North common at 11:15, a silent prayer of two minutes' duration at noon, and exercises of an appropriate nature on a specially constructed platform at city hall. A delegation of school children from every school in the city will take part in the exercises at city hall. In case of rain, the use of B. F. Keith's theatre has been offered for the ceremonies through the kindness of Manager Pickett.

WAS THROWN FROM CAR

John McHugh Seriously Injured in Accident Near Bleachery Station Today

John McHugh of 353 Lincoln street, is in a serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of being thrown from a freight car of the Boston & Maine near the Bleachery station, this morning.

As far as could be learned, McHugh attempted to climb a moving freight train near the overhead bridge in Gorham street, at about 7 o'clock, and as he was climbing onto the car he was struck by the side gliders on the bridge and was thrown to the ground, landing on his head. He was rushed to the hospital where, because of the length and depth of the cut on his head, it is feared he will not recover.

DEMOCRATIC EFFORT TO FORCE VOTE FAILS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Efforts of the democrats to force an immediate vote on the acceptance of the senate 50 per cent. surtax amendment to the tax revision bill, failed today, the house voting after a hot debate to lay up the table a resolution of acceptance offered by Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the minority leader.

Flowers Placed at Bier Grow Mountains High—Impressive Scenes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Great and small folk moved in endless procession today through the rotunda of the capitol to pay tribute to the unknown dead lying in such state there as only martyred presidents have known. The day was set aside for it. All who could speak for groups in the land or for the powers of the world were free to place their floral offerings at his bier. Hour by hour the heaping flowers about the casket grew mountain high and spread about the vast chamber. Flowers that bloomed in France were there, and flowers brought in all their beauty from South Africa, 5000 miles away.

There was not a minute of the day unclaimed by those who would do honor to the dead. There was no organization.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKER

Margaret Slattery Will Address Local Girls—Just Completed a World's Tour

Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston, will address the young women of Lowell Sunday afternoon, November 14, under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. Miss Slattery will speak in the First Congregational church at 3 o'clock, but her subject will not be announced until next week.

In order that the young women of the city may have seats, reserved seats tickets may be had at the Y.W.C.A. after Friday. All the girls of the city are invited to be present. The gallery will be open to the general public.

Miss Slattery is well known to the people of Lowell, having spoken here on several occasions. During the war she addressed an audience of 4,000 people in the armory. She last spoke here about two years ago.

Miss Slattery has just completed a tour of China, Japan, India and other countries in the Eastern hemisphere and doubtless her talk will be on her travels abroad. Further details of the meeting will be announced later.

U. S. PROPOSALS ARE GUARDED

Suggestion for Reducing Naval Forces Said to Be Only One Prepared

Little Known of What is Going on Behind Scenes on Eve of Arms Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Proposals to be made by the American delegation to the conference on limitation of armaments, apparently constitute the only suggestion prepared in advance as to ways and means of curtailing naval expenditures without sacrifice by any power of national security. Great Britain is not known to have worked out any formula; Japan is awaiting the American suggestion; France and Italy are more concerned with land forces than navies.

Two days before the conference opens the American proposals remain a closely guarded secret.

To Cut Naval Forces

This much is known: A definite formula for agreement on limitation of naval forces has been reached by Secretary Hughes and his colleagues of the American delegation. The formula is an extremely practical one. It does not attempt to state any general rule for establishing equitable relative of naval forces between the powers. It does not attempt to fix a common denominator by which all navies could be divided and each power assigned by agreement the number of units it could maintain with world approval.

The American suggestion will deal with things as they are. It will be a plain proposition of ships, built, building or authorized; of naval bases, of the vital element of naval replace-

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Autoist and Milk Dealer

Fined—Assault Case Continued—Other Cases

Harold L. Williams was fined $50 by Judge Fisher in district court today for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A drunkenness complaint was filed following a long conference at the bench with counsel and police. The defendant was given until February 11 to pay the assessment. Williams was arrested in the Highland district on October 23, by Motorcycle Officer Walter Kivlan.

For having in his possession milk found to be below standard, Kiriakos Antonian was fined $10. He paid. Milk inspector Melvin Master prosecuted the case.

John N. Santos of Summer street, was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill. At the request of counsel a postponement to November 12 was allowed. It is alleged Santos shot Thomas J. McHermott late Saturday night, October 15, at the corner of Middlesex and Elliot streets. McHermott was seriously wounded and until yesterday was confined to St. John's hospital. The accused was held under bail of $5000.

A default warrant against George T. Pines, charged with illegally setting liquor, was issued today after the defendant failed to appear when his case was called. He was arraigned on November 4 and continued to today.

Compliments Lowell

Finished by the end of this week or early next week, the inspectors believe. It is particularly in reference to cellars that Mr. Flanders expressed his assertion that this city is the cleanest in New England. In both the business and residential sections the inspectors found the basements and cellars unusually clean and well-vent.

One of the first things they looked for in their tour of inspection was rubbish, papers and general refuse stored under stairs, in cellar corners or scattered over basements of business houses. These they failed to find, they maintain, praising the residents for the care they exercise in keeping their premises neat. Thereby, they point out, these homes and business structures are free from fire hazards to a great extent as rubbish stored in cellars is very conducive to fire.

Not an instance, thus far, has been found in this city, the visitors state, where there was necessity to make a complaint to the insurance company covering that particular property. The inspectors also expressed complete satisfaction over the co-operation given them by the Lowell public in general during their tour of inspection.

STORM DAMAGED TREES AND WIRES

Lowell is recovering today from its first real battle of the season with a genuine old-fashioned fall, rain and sleet storm that did considerable damage to telephone and electric wires and badly injured scores of handsome shade trees in all parts of the city.

Many city workmen began duty early last night clearing away wood debris on busy traffic lines. They are still at work this afternoon, and will have another day of it.

The street railway service was badly delayed all night because of ice on rails and overhead wires, but the storm failed to greatly handicap service and transportation facilities were better after the early evening rush hour.

Telephone poles and wires suffered badly from the storm's ravages. Trees were blown down all over the city, and more than 100 lines were affected by the bad ice conditions. Limbs and telegraph poles were blown down in Forge Village, Billerica, South Lowell and at the corner of Branch and Queen streets.

The park department had many calls to respond to. Many tree limbs were blown down and filled some sections of the streets. In some cases actually blocking all traffic. Reports this noon at city hall show that workmen had removed broken limbs and other debris from the following places:

Middlesex street at Washington park; First and Reed streets; Andover street at Bellevue park; Pawtucket street at the Gage ice house; Pawtucket street at Wampanoag; School street at Liberty; Gorham street opposite St. Peter's rectory, 20 Dover street; 359 School street; Rogers at Banks streets; Plain street at Brown's livery; First street at Durant; Page street near the high school annex; Beacon street at 11th street; Oak at Nesmith and in Congress street.

Last evening before 10 o'clock, the park department had 19 men out cleaning the streets, and they worked all night. The work will take at least two days to finish.

The street railway placed extra cars in service last night, six in all. Tonight more cars will be added to all lines to handle the home-going rush. Supt. Whalen, expects to handle the commuters in better shape from now on.

Last night, the trolley wires were covered with ice and traffic was badly delayed on that account. On all lines cars were kept running all night, even up Christian Hill where the tracks were slippery.

Several large trees were knocked down by the storm. A large elm on Andover street not far from Wentworth avenue was bent over and finally broken off close to the ground.

The traffic conditions this morning and toward noon were in good shape, and much of the snow and ice disappeared in the streets down town. The railroads reported no serious delays or accidents of any kind because of the storm.

The street railway got out its big sweeper last evening, running it over most of the lines running from Merrimack square. It helped to keep the snow and ice from hardening on or near the tracks.

CAMBRIDGE MAN SUES BOSTON & MAINE R. R.

Sued by Arthur King of Cambridge against the Boston & Maine railroad to recover $15,000 for physical and mental suffering and financial loss was started this morning in superior court. Jury waived session with Judge Burns on the bench.

The suit is the outcome of an accident in which a horse drawn vehicle in which the plaintiff was riding collided with a Boston Elevated railway electric car. The accident happened Aug. 18, 1919, in Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, on what is known as the Porter station bridge.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendant in the maintenance of the electric car which was in motion at the time which caused the collision. It is alleged the car's speed at the time was in excess of the limit allowed by law. It will be taken up by the court. Attorney James H. Holden of Boston for Attorney Lewis H. Peckham, also of Boston, is arguing the case for the plaintiff while Fred W. Wier and Oronokian are appearing for the Boston & Maine.

ments, of the potential naval significance of merchant marines and of other concrete, existing or planned weapons and auxiliaries of naval warfare.

Also it is regarded by those who framed the suggestion as a bold stroke for naval reductions, possibly too bold for immediate realization. Beyond this limited outline of what is going on behind the scenes, nothing has yet been available.

Japan Willing to Reduce

There is a feeling in some well informed circles that Baron Kato touched the heart of the matter in stating Japan's willingness to reduce her now famous eight battleship and eight battle cruiser fleet program. To that sequence is to be added a third eight, as under Japanese standards of naval obsolescence a capital ship has a first line of but eight years and must be replaced by a new ship within that period.

The American navy has no such definite objective. It does not represent an ordered program of replacement for maintaining any fixed force on a fixed ratio of battleships and battle cruisers. The old British two-power standard which governed the building program prior to 1914, went by the board with the German fleet. Britain is not today building any capital ships. Four new battle cruisers have been authorized in the way of replacements for war losses and to balance that side of the fleet, but they have not been laid down.

The exact status of Japan's new craft is not known. It is certain, however, that Japan has not started construction on all the super-warships her eight and eight program would require. That fleet ratio, Baron Kato said, would not be achieved before 1925.

The American program of 1916, deferred during the war and greatly slowed down this year by limited appropriations, is in much the same status. It includes six battleships and six battle cruisers. Keels of all have been laid. Actual work on construction of one battleship, the Massachusetts, has been stationary at about four per cent for several months. Work on the other five ranges from 19 to 25 per cent. On the battle cruisers, one is placed at 1.1 per cent; one at 5.3 per cent; one at 6.2 per cent; one at 12.6 per cent; one at 16.3 per cent, and the nearest completion at 20 per cent finished. These figures are for work on the ships and do not include material ordered.

It is suggested no naval power would be willing to stop all construction because of the fact of advancement of knowledge in naval engineering which can be carried on only by building. That phase, it is said, is certain to be given attention.

means a slow form of rheumatism of the joints or arthritis. Stiffness of the joints is not confined to the knees. The shoulders, elbows and hips are often involved, so that one cannot escape from the agony of the disease. Again stiffness of the joints may, and often follows, an acute attack of rheumatism. If neglected, tends to grow gradually worse. One of the most successful remedies based on scientific medical knowledge which seems to have marked influence in overcoming this ailment is Weldon. Hundreds claim that rheumatism of many years' duration which resisted every form of treatment has yielded to Weldon. This preparation is due up in tablet form, free from alcohol or harmful ingredients, and cannot disturb the heart or stomach. Blonds, Adieu! No More in the United States In Forty Years, Says Noted Anthropologist

LOOK 'EM OVER AND WHEE! IN TWO GENERATIONS THERE WILL BE NO MORE BLONDS IN UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN LIKE THESE, ABOVE, LEFT TO RIGHT, MAE MURRAY AND FRANK WHITE; CENTRE, MOLLIE KING, AND, BELOW, RUDY DE REMER, AND DR. AUSTIN O'MALLEY, WHO GIVES OUT THE BAD TIDINGS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Madam, forgive your husband for casting the lingering eye upon the blond. His interest may be sentimental, but more likely he'll tell you it's purely scientific—and get away with it. For the blond is vanishing! In two generations we in the United States will see no blonds, except the imported or the drug store varieties! This information comes from none other than Dr. Austin O'Malley, noted anthropologist of Philadelphia. He fixes the deadline for blonds at the 45th parallel of latitude. This traverses the United States approximately from Bangor, Me., through St. Paul, Minn., to Portland, Ore. "Blonds cannot survive below the 45th parallel," says Dr. O'Malley, "and even in Minnesota they will have a hard time of it. This, of course, means that the American race soon will be dark—almost Mediterranean. 'It's sad to dwell upon,' says the doctor. 'For fairness and beauty have been almost synonymous throughout the ages. All the great heroines of painting and literature, from Helen of Troy to Polyanna, have been blonds. So it's time the brunette had her day. In two generations, when artists speak of the American type, they will mean the brunette.'

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Trucks will be run to Haverhill-Lowell football game if enough students sign to go. It is hoped that Lowell will be represented by an adequate cheering section at this game. Pupils have been warned not to leave anything of value in their coats as a lot of petty thieving has been committed in the past few days. Mr. Harris is taking energetic steps to put a stop to this.

There will be a mass meeting for pupils in the main building in the gym and for pupils in the annex in the drill shed Wednesday at recess. Coach McIntyre has just received a challenge for a game with his basketball team from South Portland high school. Steps are being made to try to arrange a game. The high school team this year will be in the same class as the team of last year is a foregone conclusion. The veterans have Capt. Gleason, Charlie Brockmeyer, Davis, Achin, Long, Herlin and Georges. Coach McIntyre expects big things from Capt. Gleason and Brockmeyer. These two showed their class last year and are looking forward to an even better season this year. Promising candidates who are expected out are Robbins who played well on the junior class team last year, Mevis, Sam Brockmeyer, McManis, Ginnells and Dugan. Practice starts immediately after football closes.

BUTLER A. A. TO PLAY BUFFALOS IN LAWRENCE

Saturday afternoon the Butler football aggregation will step over in Sullivan Park, Lawrence, to meet the Buffalos of that city. The Buffalos are the same team that administered a defeat to the local Y.M.C. team a short while ago. Incidentally they also claim the championship of the Merrimack Valley. The Butlers will use the same team that lined up against the Indians a few weeks ago, including, Lowcraft, Beiton, Hayden, Conway and O'Hare. The team will leave here at 1 P. M., Saturday, Nov. 12.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Swapp, 373 Beacon street, the Ladies' Aid society of the Centralville M.E. church held its monthly meeting. The plans for a cake sale were discussed as were the plans of the bazaar and supper to be held at a future date. The hostess served refreshments during the afternoon and was given a vote of thanks for her hospitality.

JOINT RECITAL AT COLONIAL HALL

A delightful musical program was enjoyed by an audience numbering more than 200 in Colonial hall last evening. The artists were Miss Helen Davis, soprano, and Victor Young, pianist, assisted by Samuel Hungerford, violinist. The recital was given in conjunction with the reproduction of their voices on the new Edison phonograph. The Bon Marche Dry Goods Co. was sponsor for the excellent offerings, and the work of each artist was thoroughly appreciated by music lovers. Novel arrangements were made to bring out the clear, tonal qualities of the Edison instrument. No modern invention can come nearer to duplicating the human voice than the instrument exhibited and played last evening. An interesting feature of the program was the singing of the quaintly sweet song, "Darby and Joan," by Miss Davis, who left the stage during the middle of the song, leaving the Edison record to finish the concert piece. The tones of the instrument were exact in duplication of the human voice. The violin solos were also reproduced with remarkable clearness and fidelity. The qualities of the phonograph were brought out with distinctness that really amazed the music lovers present. One of the popular offerings on the night's program was the old, familiar "Danube River," sung by Miss Davis in her excellent manner. It was a pure delight and the qualities of this song were brought out in full measure. The piano playing of Mr. Young was a surprise to many who had never heard him, his touch being strong and his changing tones full of real quality and color. The artists gave several encores.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says: "When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 30 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

ALL LOCAL MILLS WILL ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS CLOSE TOMORROW HOLD EXERCISES

Lowell mill corporations are unanimous in deciding to observe Armistice day as a holiday. In addition to the corporations who will close shops all day tomorrow, as announced in last night's Sun, the Tremont and Suffolk mills officials stated this morning that they would observe the holiday also. This action on the part of the largest corporations means that the holiday will be observed throughout the city tomorrow in the fashion most desired.

The action of the mills, it is said, has greatly pleased the members of the American Legion, who lead in the day's observances that are to be held in Lowell in memory of those who gave their lives in the world war, martyrs by the unknown soldier.

Appropriate exercises were held this afternoon in all the local elementary schools in observance of Armistice day. In some of the schools the programs were carried out in the assembly hall, but in the following schools individual class programs were carried out: Lincoln, Butler, Edison and Green.

The programs in the other schools that could be obtained this forenoon are as follows:

HAPPY SEASON FOR STOUT WOMEN

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—There is one consolation thought for the woman who was born too early to be a flapper.

It is that while many of our fashions are shown upon tantalizingly slender figures, most of the modes may be adapted to almost any build.

Naturally, however, garments are the flapper's very own.

shoulders with full sleeves tend toward grace of figure.

The designs of head, embroidered in two rows on the sleeves and skirt and one around the neck, add that touch of gaiety which all the season's frolics demand.

THE STRAND
Tom Mix, the live wire of the screen in his newest thriller, "A Kid in the Pants," will open at The Strand today. Edith Roberts in "Lullaby Lies" will be the other feature. First performance Friday at 12 o'clock.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Florence Reed in "The Black Pimpernel," Tom Moore in "Carnegie in Heaven," and Robinson in "The Circus" are the feature attractions today at the Merrimack Square Theatre.

OPERA HOUSE
The characterization of the principal male role by Kalamath Matsui, in this week's presentation, "The Love Bandit," by the Lowell players at the Opera House, is fairly a most commendable performance and is richly earning the gratitude of the patrons of the city and suburbs. Mr. Matsui is giving a perfect interpretation of the role of the young man, a handsome man who turns his attention to every way and wins the heart and hand of a beautiful girl.

The remainder of the cast is a well chosen to excellent advantage. Next week, the great destruction of another love, "The Hillys in the Poor House" will be given.

HIMPO THEATRE
James Oliver Curran's absorbing north country story, "The Golden Snare," with a special cast headed by Lewis Stone and Ruth Rade, is the feature of the week-end bill at the Himpo theatre beginning this afternoon. This production was made under the direction of David Hartford for release by the Associated First National Pictures and part of the scenes were shown in the most picture theatres of the country.

Prominent Banker Dies of Auto Injuries
BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., Nov. 10.—Clarence C. Matthews, treasurer of the Boothbay Savings bank the past 37 years and for nine years postmaster, died last night as the result of injuries received and the shock of an automobile accident. He was knocked down and run over Saturday by Ralph Boyd, grammar school principal, while crossing a street. He was 76 years old.

STREET RAILWAY CARS WILL HALT

As a mark of respect to the memory of those who gave their lives in the world war, as typified by the unknown American soldier who is to be buried tomorrow in Arlington National cemetery, announcement was made today that all street railway cars on the Lowell division of the Eastern Massachusetts lines will come to a halt at noon tomorrow, remaining stationary for a period of two minutes. This action was taken by the railway officials yesterday, and notices at once sent broadcast to all division heads. Sent. Whalen promptly issued the necessary orders for Lowell and vicinity.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of restless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called nervous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Dows, druggists and Fred Howard have been appointed agents for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

Beauty Specialist

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/2 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

A HOUCHEMELON FABLE

Once upon a time a watermelon grew in a field, all unaware of the ways of the world. A bad man took the watermelon and plugged it and filled it with a quart of bootleg hooch. Then he took the melon to market, but the reverends caught him and seized the melon. The lady clerk at Washington prohibition headquarters is shown separating the bad from the good.

TONE UP THE STOMACH

Troubles having their origin in some weakness or disorder of the digestive organs are very common.

Pain and burning sensations in the stomach, nausea, headaches, palpitation of the heart, vertigo, nervousness, sleeplessness springing from this cause are vexing multitudes. Every organ of the body is impaired by lack of proper nutrition, strength and nervous energy needed for success are consumed in enduring discomfort, and the feebleness of age is reached prematurely.

The way to secure sound digestion is to give strength to the organs concerned in the process. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and supply it with elements essential to the vigor of every organ. The stomach instead of being allowed to grow weaker through inactivity is roused to do its work and soon does it perfectly.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment will be sent free on request by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price, 25 cents per box.—Adv.

Do You Have Backache Over Kidneys?

Limbs Swell?

Try to follow Mr. Agans' Advice

Albany, N. Y.—"Ever since my early boyhood, I have suffered from weak kidneys and as I grew older they became worse. I got so I suffered constantly with backaches, my limbs would swell, my joints became stiff with rheumatism, and my bladder became weak. I would have to quit my work entirely several weeks at a time. I was 'all in' and nearly 'down and out' with this ailment. Nothing seemed to give me any relief although I tried everything I could hear of in the medicine line. I was finally advised to try Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets and through the persistent use of this medicine I was completely cured of all my kidney ailment and bladder weakness and I have never had any trouble from these ailments since. The 'Anuric' Tablets have made a new man of me and I never fail to recommend them when I hear a complaint from anyone suffering with kidney or bladder trouble. Before I took 'Anuric' I had almost given up hope of ever getting better, but, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Anuric, I am in good health and able to work every day." Morton E. Agans, 45 Washington Ave.

Obtain these Anti-uric (Anuric) Tablets of Dr. Pierce's at your nearest drug store; or send the for trial pkg. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN

QUICKLY SOOTHED

WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples; or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Adv.

ARMS PARLEY LIKE RAINBOW

Lloyd George Sees World Business Revived With Washington Arms Session

Prospects of Irish Peace Brighter—Harvey at Lord Mayor's Banquet

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By Associated Press)—The lord mayor's banquet last evening assumed more than national importance when the prime minister, replying to the mayor's toast to the cabinet ministers, followed the custom of such gatherings at the historic Guildhall of speaking his mind regarding foreign affairs.

The tradition has been that the prime minister must touch only on foreign policies in his annual Guildhall speech, but in response to the lord mayor's suggestion that the guests anxiously awaited news of the Irish conference, Mr. Lloyd George quickly expanded the statement, made early in his speech, that "the Washington conference is like a rainbow in the sky," and then passed to the question of Ireland.

He declared that there was a better prospect of Great Britain's proposals to Ireland being heeded today and of Ireland accepting the invitation to enter the British commonwealth as an equal than for years, but that the conference was still in a critical stage. Beyond this he carefully refrained from divulging the results or the possibilities of the conferences with the Irish representatives.

Signs of Revival In his opening remarks, the premier alluded to the economic troubles afflicting the world, such as followed the Napoleonic wars. He expressed the conviction that the force of the cyclone was already spent, and followed with a recital of numerous symptoms indicating that a revival was coming, particularly the fact that "in every land the slackness that seemed to overcome labor is passing away."

"The world is settling down to work," said Mr. Lloyd George, "and it is work alone that will fill the depleted tills which will enable purchasers to come to the markets. The blue sky is beginning to emerge; the Washington conference, summoned by President Harding, is like a rainbow in the sky. For, without the assurance of peace, restoration of business is impossible."

"Our Only Safety" "Man is the most unteachable of all animals. If you inflict punishment upon any other animal he quickly learns the lesson. But, take the late war; it was the most terrible destructive in the history of the world. For that devastation competition in arms is largely responsible."

"That lesson was scourged deep into the flesh of the world, and yet no sooner are we out of it than the nations spend their substance in devising and amassing fresh engines for war; fresh subjects spring up everywhere to justify war. You might imagine that the only purpose and glory of national organization was human slaughter."

"Armaments today are twice as expensive in men and material as they were before the great war; at the present rate they will soon be a hundred times as destructive and terrible. In peace the burden was crushing; in war the effect will be too terrible to contemplate."

"Disarmament is the only road to safety for the human race. Suspicions, fears, misunderstandings, even quarrels, are as inevitable among nations as among individuals, and if a deadly weapon is ready at hand, one day they will strike. The American conference has the future of civilization in its charge; therefore, I earnestly pray for its success."

Extend Anglo-American Peace To All "Twenty-five years ago Lord Salisbury in this room expressed the satisfaction which the people of this country felt at the peaceful solution which had just been reached of our last serious difference with the United States of America. Every man who is a man of British blood has been taught to regard a serious quarrel with America as unthinkable. That attitude of mind is in itself a guarantee of peace between the two countries."

"But this conference held under the auspices of America, ought to carry us a stage further. It is the incalculable of a similar attitude toward and between all other peoples. If that is achieved at this assembly, the Washington conference will be the greatest event of the last 1000 years."

"Better Prospect of Irish Peace"

Of the Irish negotiations he said in conclusion: "I cannot reveal any secrets of the conference room; that is the way to bring a conference to naught. All I can say is, that there is a better prospect of our invitation to the people of Ireland to come into free partnership in the British Empire as equals being heeded today than at any time for years."

He repeatedly emphasized the necessity of peace, saying that it was needed for the welfare of the empire as well as for the good relations of the British Isles. The worst aspect of a family quarrel, he added, was not only that it caused unhappiness within the family, but attracted the attention of neighbors.

Declaring that there could be no peace and that a great opportunity would be lost if each party approached the tangled problem determined not to budge an inch, he exclaimed:

"We, who are in the conference in behalf of the British government and people, regard ourselves there as the trustees of the empire, the guardians of its honor and security. It is a high trust; we promise you we will not betray it."

Harvey Drinks From Loving Cup

The American ambassador, Mr. Harvey, participated in the ancient custom of drinking from the lord mayor's loving cup and passed it to Lord Curzon, seated next to him. He followed tradition and stood at attention while the foreign secretary drank, which, according to the story handed down for generations, is necessary, to protect the one who drinks from possible attack while toasting the new lord mayor and lady mayors.

The gathering was as brilliant and distinguished as ever before, representing all phases of national life and including among its members the American, Japanese, Spanish, Brazilian and Italian ambassadors.

WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

MRS. BISHOP WISHES SHE COULD TELL EVERYBODY IN MASS. ABOUT TANLAC

"Tanlac is simply grand, and I just wish it was so I could go from house to house and tell everyone about it," was the enthusiastic statement of Mrs. Maud M. Bishop, 2 Williams st. terrace, Roxbury, Mass.

"For three years my life was made miserable by awful headaches and nervousness. I never could learn what caused the headaches, but, any- how, I suffered such piercing pains I was afraid at times they would drive me mad. Many a time it seemed that the top of my head was coming off, and I would get so nervous I just paced the floor, wringing my hands in despair. At times I was afraid something terrible was going to happen to me, although I know there was no cause for this feeling of uneasiness except nervousness. I had severe pains in my neck and back, and nights when I retired I hurt so bad I could find no comfortable position in bed, and could never get the sleep I needed and al- ways felt tired and worn out."

"Well, I had no more than taken my first bottle of Tanlac until I saw it was the very medicine I had been needing. I have used three bottles now and my troubles have completely disappeared. My head feels as clear as a bell all the time, and my nerves are as steady as can be. Nothing up- sets me, and I sleep from that time I retire at night until I am called in the morning. I've also gained nearly ten pounds in weight. Tanlac is just wonderful."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special agent, representative, by Wright Drug Co., Haverhill, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

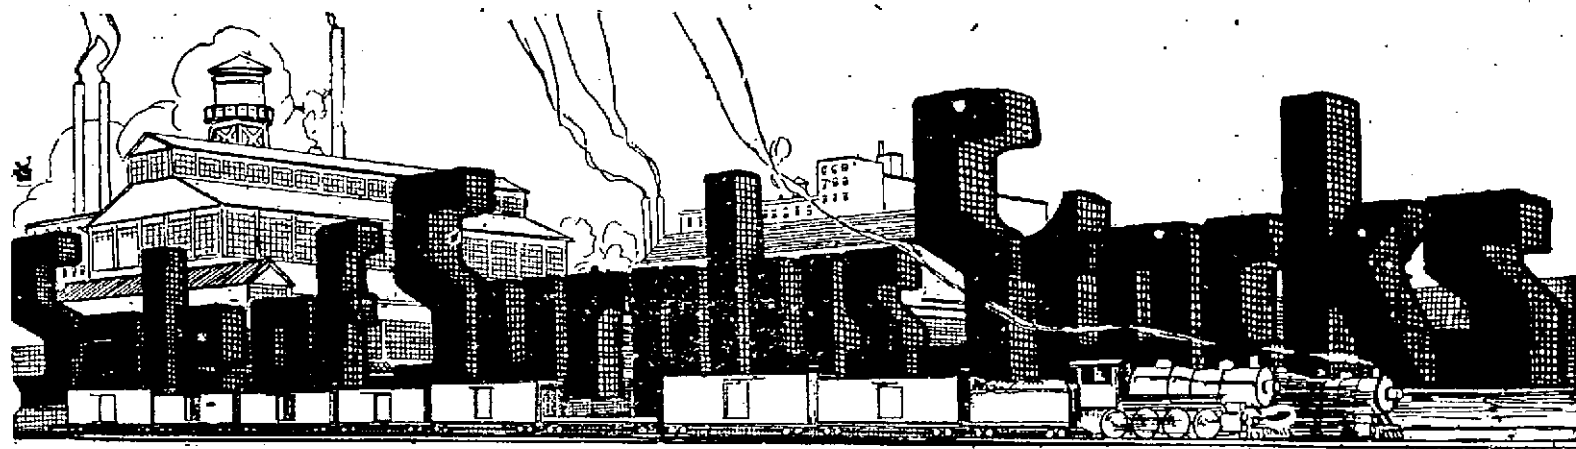

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Mil- lions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.—Adv.

AWAIT ANNOUNCEMENT ON STRIKE VOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Announcement of the vote cast this week by the members of the garment workers union of this city on the proposal of employers to adopt the new work system, was awaited with keen interest here today. It was reported last night the cloak makers' unions had voted almost unanimously against the piecework plan and given their leaders a mandate to call a strike, effective November 14. A total of 3400 shops would be affected in this city, it was said, and New Jersey workers in the trade would join in the walkout.

LOWELL HIGH ALL SET FOR HAVERHILL

Despite the tough weather conditions of yesterday Coach Eddie Cawley had his charges out at Spaulding park and held one of the longest practices of the year. The most pleasing feature of the day to Coach Cawley was the fact that not one member of the squad was missing from the practice, which consisted of a long signal drill and test-out for the backs in handling the slippery ball and in catching punts. The team is now tight on edge for the Haverhill game tomorrow and eager for the opening whistle to sound.

In a comparison with the Haverhill team the local boys more than hold their own with the down river eleven. Haverhill has two outstanding stars in its linebackers, Paulsen and Horsch, but these two men are to be carefully watched. The man most feared by the Lowell team tomorrow is Hatcher, the Haverhill fullback. He has a reputation of being a hard player, but if he has anything on Gus Normandin he must be a bear. Captain Liston at quarterback and Conway at half will compare evenly with the Paulsen-Horsch combination. In the line Dodge can be depended on to outplay the Haverhill center and the rest of the line will more than hold its own. A battle royal is looked for when John McManis and Mansfield of Haverhill clash opposite one another at guard and carry will be a matter of some interest. Lowell will be far superior to the Haverhill team in the backfield, as the Lowell backs are more experienced and have more play. Tomorrow's game will be Captain Liston's first appearance since the Concord high game and much is expected from him. The game tomorrow should be a bear.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT AT CITY LIBRARY

Not knowing a small pistol he found in the drawer of a desk at which he was working was loaded George Flanagan, aged 15, pointed the weapon at James Conidine, aged 15, a playmate, and pulled the trigger. The Conidine boy was shot in the right side. He was rushed to St. John's hospital and attended by Dr. James Y. Hoagden. The wound was found to be slight and after treatment the boy was taken to his home in Hosson street.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon in the main reading room of the city library where both boys are employed as messengers.

CHURCH FAIR OPENS

The opening of the two-day fair at the Highland Congregational church last evening was a big success. There were more than 300 people present. In the early part of the evening a turkey supper with all the fixings was served and later an interesting address was given by Rev. Mr. Peters of Manchester, Conn. During the evening the various sales tables around the hall did a thriving business. This evening's program will include the presentation of a playlet entitled "The Old Lady's Soliloquy."

LOWELL MOOSE MEET

Dictator Edward St. Leger occupied the chair at the regular meeting of Lowell lodge 518, Loyal Order of Moose, which was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street. Twenty-two members were initiated and several applications for membership were received. Plans were completed for a big class initiation, which will be held Nov. 20. It is expected that Supreme Dictator James F. Griffin and District Supervisor Arthur W. Hayden will be in attendance.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE "PRIMER" In 24 Paragraphs

Washington, Nov. 10, 1921.

1—Reduced to its simplest form, the main idea behind the conference for the limitation of armament is to head off a war in the Pacific.

2—Right along with this, and equally important, is the desire to put an end to the race between rival navies of the world for first place.

3—The original suggestion was to hold a disarmament conference, but it was soon realized that to propose even a reduction of armament without first removing the principal causes of friction between the powers would prove a mere waste of time.

4—So the idea of a "Pacific conference" was born—the Pacific, and particularly the Far East being the recognized new war-breeding region of the world.

5—The Far East is the new trouble-center because Asia offers stupendous opportunities in the way of trade and both China and Russia are powerless to defend themselves against mighty nations.

6—China has split herself up into two camps—northern and southern—each with a "president"; and many of her provinces have proclaimed their autonomy. Undeveloped, rich in natural resources beyond conception, she is ripe fruit and good plucking for territory-grabbing, or concession-hungry neighbors.

7—Siberia, too, rich in the natural products so essential to an industrial nation, is an open invitation to foreign exploitation.

8—For 21 years the United States has stood by her own policy of the "open door," the Secretary Hay doctrine, meaning Asia should not be swallowed by any nation or group of nations, but should retain her independence, as is, and should keep her door open to the commerce of all countries alike and without favoritism.

9—Though every great power endorsed the Hay doctrine when first promulgated in 1900, some of them have utterly failed to live up to it in practice.

10—Japan, since 1914 especially, has been conspicuous for her failure, not only to respect her pledge regarding the "open door," but to live up to the terms of her treaty guaranteeing the integrity of China with Great Britain as well.

11—Japan took over all German rights in Shantung and has consistently broadened them since 1914, refusing to give them back to China, despite the fact that China, too, helped fight Germany. Japan will leave Shantung only on condition.

12—Japan is in Manchuria, where her concessions are many and where she owns outright the South Manchurian Railway. Though in Chinese territory, China can use this railway only by consent of Japan.

13—Japan is in Siberia and is pushing on into Mongolia; she is in possession of the northern half of the island of Saghalien, belonging to Russia; her troops control the whole length of the Chinese Eastern Railway and are the law of Vladivostok.

she is in Pukien province, at Port Arthur, in the Liaotung peninsula and in Korea—annexed in 1910 after successful wars with China and Russia.

14—Yap, a tiny island in the Pacific, is the strategic center of communications between the United States and the Far East. Japan claims a mandate over it by virtue of a ruling of the supreme council sitting at Paris.

15—To many of these Japanese adventures the United States is opposed, not only because it is against the doctrine of the "open door."

16—Great Britain, and particularly the British overseas dominions—Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa—are fearful lest their interests in the Pacific be infringed upon, and with America, they see many things eye to eye.

17—Britons in the Far East wish to see the Anglo-Japanese alliance abandoned in favor of a more general agreement regarding the Far East and to which the United States would be an important party.

18—They claim Japan has not kept her word with regard to the "open-door" or with Great Britain with regard to the alliance. They fear Japan's secret intentions in Asia.

19—A Pacific conference, British Dominions hope, will serve to clear up the atmosphere of suspicion in the Orient and pave the way for the denunciation of an outworn and unpopular alliance.

20—It is hoped that by all the great powers putting their cards face up on the conference table at Washington, and everybody playing square with each other, and with Asia, the causes of friction between at least the three principal naval powers can be removed to the extent that partial disarmament, or limitation of armament, will result.

21—Will the conference succeed? It will if the powers give helplessly Asia a square deal and the Hay doctrine is finally put across in a way that will prove effective.

22—If the conference does nothing else, it will show everybody how the Hay doctrine. The people of the world will know which nations are trying to promote peace and which are hoping to profit by more war.

23—That at least this much shall be accomplished, full publicity should be given the whole proceedings. A report, although rambling and full of errors, must be given to the world. The world should know the truth about the conference.

24—Aside from justice and fair play to the under dog, America's interests in Asia are economic. If a single foreign power, or group of powers gains economic or political control over the great markets of the world, American workmen, being shut out, and with no outlet for their surplus goods, must leave America and look for jobs in a more virile land. That is one of the things to be guarded against at all hazards.

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 314 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Write me today.

exercises. Arrangements for the great mass meeting in honor of the glorious dead were completed without a hitch.

Not all of the pupils could attend the exercises owing to the theatre's capacity. Arrangements were made to seat all of the seniors and sophomores, and a large number of freshmen, although many of the first year classes had not yet presented. The exercises at the theatre were notable for their exhibition of patriotic fervor. It was one of the most majestic appeals to the better side of life ever made by the school authorities and the pupils of Lowell schools, and will never be forgotten.

Freshman Night Program

The program given by the freshmen of the Lowell high school last evening was greatly enjoyed and the attendance very large considering the bad weather and traveling conditions.

The offerings included selections by the Mandolin club, gymnastics by the freshmen athletes, an address by Head Master Harris, a reading, "Seventeen" by James Geary '22, and a Dutch dance by freshmen girls. An opportunity was allowed from 7.30 to 8 and after 9 o'clock for "talks with parents."

THE CANDIDATES

Today the list of candidates for the office of mayor, city councilor and members of the school board is complete, and unless the improbable happens, it will go before the voters with little or no change, for their earnest consideration. They will have until the 22d of November to discuss the merits of the various candidates and make up their minds for whom they will vote.

It should be remembered by the citizens in general that we are face to face with an epoch in our city government and one in which the exercise of good judgment on the part of the electorate is absolutely essential to the future prosperity of our city. Unfortunately, it appears that a great many of our citizens regard the business of conducting our municipal affairs far too lightly. They vote for this or that candidate because of their acquaintance with him or the fact that he has solicited their vote. Neither fact is any indication of fitness for a public office. In all probability the most undesirable candidates in the field are the most active workers in the solicitation of votes. As a result it is therefore, necessary for the voters to exercise intelligent judgment in selecting the men who are to serve in the city government for the next two years. Whether we shall have efficient and progressive city government is a matter of very great importance to the people of this city, whether they work in the factories or in the city departments, or whether they conduct manufacturing or other enterprises. Upon whether we elect men of capacity who are honest and at the same time capable of promoting the city's interests, will depend whether we get a dollar's worth in return for every dollar expended by the city during the next two years.

In some of our municipal elections in past years, the candidate who gave utterance to the most sensational charges in street corner speeches and who promised to do terrible things on getting into city hall, usually received the most cordial support of the unthinking voters. It is to be hoped that this will not be the guiding principle in the coming election. It is a well known fact that the men who are honest and capable and who offer themselves as candidates for the sole purpose of promoting the city's welfare are not out with sensational charges against other candidates. They simply have consented to serve the city and to leave to the voters the question of whether they shall be chosen for that purpose. If they are defeated and unworthy and turbulent candidates elected, the city will suffer the consequences in reckless expenditures, municipal scandals, litigation in the courts and general dissatisfaction.

Now is the time to guard against these mistakes and to select men who may well be entrusted with the management of our city affairs and who will conduct themselves and the city's business in a manner that will be highly creditable to the great city in which we are all interested. Let it be remembered that mistakes made at the primaries cannot always be corrected at the polls in the final election. It is, therefore, the duty of every voter to look into this list of candidates very carefully and to vote not for the selfish interest of any candidate but for the welfare of Lowell and of all her citizens collectively.

The candidates to be chosen are to be the servants of the people and upon the judgment of the electorate as shown in the primaries and the final election, will depend whether they are qualified to conduct the city's business or whether they are self-seeking and unscrupulous politicians who are willing to sacrifice the city's interests for their own whenever that may be feasible without risk of detection. First of all we want honest men and secondly, men who are recognized as capable from training and experience to manage large affairs and guide our municipality on the road to prosperity.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES

There is a strange historic parallel between the fate of Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and that of Napoleon, although in ability and character no two human beings could possibly be more different. Napoleon was a genius, perhaps the greatest military leader the world ever saw; but Charles is a weak, effeminate, good for nothing. Like Napoleon, however, he is transported to exile on a British ship with as much formality and apparent dread of his escape as if he were actually a man of power and resources.

He contrived to use an airplane to take him back into the country of which he wished to be the accepted ruler; but when he met resistance, he was helpless even in the matter of escape. He gave now to Madeira with his wife, and it is presumed that he will be kept there for life; but he has learned something of the use of airplanes in making a rapid getaway; and so, we expect to see him make his escape and reach the coast of America. Of course, even in his deposition and exile he must still have some friends who will help to get him released from prison and given his freedom, if only to take up life anew in some Spanish colony or in one of the South American republics.

It was reported that Charles attempted to commit suicide after his arrest in Hungary. That indicated the smallness of the man. If he cared so little for his life, why didn't he put up a battle in support of his claims to the Hungarian throne? He will have ample opportunity to end his existence in his new abode, if that weakness still haunts him; but he should remember that a good many better men than he are working down in the hole of ships, in coal mines, as day laborers on farms, conductors on street cars or brokenmen on railroads. Besides, he should consider himself fortunate that at a time when some prominent rulers lost their heads as well as their crowns, he was given so much consideration as to be honored with a home on an island in the ocean where he will doubtless have a measure of freedom, plenty of fresh air and a view of the broad Atlantic not far from the pillars of Hercules. Charles had better forget the past and seek permission to use his efforts in earning an honest living like other folks.

GERMAN CRASH IMMINENT

Germany is on the point of bankruptcy on account of the exhaustion of her raw material for manufacture and the lack of gold to purchase a supply. It appears that the German banks were recently besieged by manufacturers and merchants wanting to purchase United States gold with which to secure raw materials to keep their factories and other lines of business running.

Germany has been turning out a great volume of manufactured products; and in spite of all the efforts of her statesmen to check the depreciation of the mark, it has gone lower and lower until it is now reduced to its normal value of 23 cents down to half a cent. This is the natural result of turning out German marks on printing presses without restriction as to the number and without guarantee of redemption in any reliable form of currency. Those who have invested heavily in German marks with the hope that the mark would soon recover its former value, have practically lost their entire investment.

The financiers of Germany are now at their wits end in trying to avert a financial crash that will see the industries ruined and leave the government unable to meet its obligations. One of the leading German statesmen has declared that unless America induces the entente powers to recognize a moratorium which will give Germany a chance to breathe, nothing can avert a terrible crash. Industrial magnates led by Hugo Stinnes, the foremost financial genius of the country, have resumed negotiations with the government for a loan of a billion and a half gold marks for a long term of years. Stinnes has stated that he is willing to put through the loan provided the government and the people drop all their socialist schemes and co-operate in averting the impending crash.

It is also declared that the depreciation of the German mark has increased the government expenditures to the extent of three billion paper marks within ten days. No government in the world could stand such a strain as that; and hence it remains to be seen whether Germany will be able to avert a financial cataclysm that will close her banks and suspend all the busy factories throughout the country.

WITHOUT STREET CARS

Des Moines has been without street car service for eleven weeks, the car company having ceased to operate because of the competition of motor busses. The city is now to grant the company a new franchise which will provide that the busses cannot operate on lines covered by the street cars but may run at right angles across the car lines in carrying passengers through the city. The street cars are to be operated on the service-at-cost basis beginning with an eight cent fare to be lowered whenever returns justify a reduction.

The business men of Des Moines were most insistent upon the return of the street cars as their suspension had seriously affected business on the principal streets. While the busses served the working people to a limited extent, they did not accommodate the public generally same as did the street cars. The experience of Des Moines has been duplicated in many other cities and is the logical outcome of allowing competition to cut into a business already barely self-supporting. While there are some complaints in Lowell on account of the ten cent fare for the shortest rides and no very long rides without a second fare, yet if the street cars were suspended, we presume they would be missed quite as much in Lowell as in Des Moines.

By the way, we have not heard much from the state constabulary of late. Wonder how these new officers spend their time. It was understood they would drive reckless motorists, bandits and marauders off the highways; but thus far there is not much indication that the new force exists.

Remember the unemployed. If any man or woman in Lowell is out of work and without means, he or she should see Mayor Thompson, who will provide temporary relief.

Wherever the voters at the polls last Tuesday had an opportunity of selecting between democratic and republican candidates, they showed a decided preference for the former.

Premier Lloyd George promises to attend the conference which implies that he expects to see a few important matters settled before he starts.

It is just possible that the opposition of Attorney General Allen will help Mr. Peitner in his campaign for mayor of Boston.

Certainly no dearth of candidates for public office. Look them over and take your choice.

In the re-election of Mayor Hyland in New York, Tammany has won one of its greatest victories.

The five-cent fare is getting pretty popular everywhere except in Lowell.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

In the neatly printed program of studies for 1921-22, issued by the Lowell high school faculty for distribution among parents and pupils, I read with interest the following words in a little brochure on "Notes on Courses of Study":

"The teachers of the school will gladly give parents and pupils assistance and advice in the selection of studies."

Of course this is not surprising when you know Headmaster Henry H. Harris and his co-workers in this great institution on Kirk and Anne streets; but I was favorably impressed by the methods of dealing with parents and pupils when I happened to call on the headmaster yesterday to obtain certain information about a new pupil. Mr. Harris is an exceptionally busy man always. Yet he disposes of the day's work without serious haste and unhurriedly. He was struck by his display of even temper and kindness when advising pupils who appeared before him with records of tardiness and selfishness. There was no attempt to frighten the young people—no threats and no predictions of dire calamity ahead. Mr. Harris used words of most genuine and sincere nature, expressed his admonitions with spirited phrases aimed directly at the marks of delinquency. One pupil came in for advice concerning studies he desired to take up on a transfer card from an out of town school. In a twinkling Mr. Harris straightened out all perplexities, and the pupil and his anxious parent departed, feeling greatly relieved.

At last! Yeast cakes today! They have light here in Lowell yeast cake foundation drinks—advertisements, too—for your health and everything. Not far from The Sun is a soda emporium where the new drinks are advertised. Yeast cakes were taboo before the craze started. Children used to eat them when they found them on the pantry shelves, and many a mother had complaint just worrying over her child's life just because "Pauline" or "Joey" had eaten a yeast cake! Now the mothers are buying 'em and making Pauline and Joe eat them as a medical remedy for certain ailments. Signs advertising "yeast cake drinks" hot or ice cold, are beginning to appear everywhere now.

Here are some of the things the express companies object to when they are given packages for shipment to distant points: Destinations written incorrectly, receipts not signed, values not shown, shipping tags wrong, mistakes in express receipts, shipper's name missing, insecure marks, old marks, consignment marks, mistakes in mistakes in packing, second-hand containers used not in proper condition, poor paper, improperly tied, container not in conformity with classification, etc., etc. The chamber of commerce is spreading this information broadcast for the information of all who use express companies. The "Perfect Package" campaign figures in Lowell. It may be added, show but very few packages received from week to week in a condition that prevent their being forwarded. In one week, out of 4700 pieces shipped from Lowell, but eight packages were imperfect.

The Armistice night religious service in St. Anne's church was planned to arouse patriotism as well as honor with solemnity for the brave dead of the late war. I was informed at the reception yesterday that the hymnal service had been arranged for in advance, and that the usual patriotic tunes of American heraldry were not to be on the program, as the services were not planned to exploit the victory legions of the living, but rather to honor the glorious dead, who gave their last full measure of devotion that the world might remain free. That is why the hymns were selected with so much care. There were on the program "O God of Love," also James Russell Lowell's famous hymnal, "Once to Every Man and Nation Comes the Moment to Decide." Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic," of course, was also on the list.

Lowell clergymen have been reading some interesting things in Pennsylvania religious weeklies lately. Word comes north that clergymen, sextons, organists, clergymen's assistants and all other persons employed by churches, come under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law of Pennsylvania and must be insured by the churches employing them. In that respect, according to officials of the compensation board, churches are in the same class as owners of factories and railroads. Most churches have taken out insurance for their pastoral leaders and other employees. Churches that neglect to do so will be compelled to, as the law is writ in that state. Pastors are not doing hazardous work always, but many of them move around a good deal, and are great travelers. Insurance will tend to protect their families if they are incapacitated.

Open-air sun parlors on Middlesex street are the rage nowadays, when cold winds sweep down the street and the shady sides of the thoroughfare are bleak when the temperature is low. Walking down Middlesex street the other day I discovered a real "sun spot" on the sidewalk in front of one of the buildings connected with the big mills. There is a stretch of brick wall about 100 feet long just this side of Alarston street, a favorite spot for the unemployed and others, who enjoy the sunshine every day along the stretch. The men take it easy and enjoy their pipes, swap stories and watch the autos slip by. They appear untroubled like the waters of Venice.

There's been a language and a system of idiosyncrasy, says a Pennsylvania professor.

NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING MOVEMENT

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—For the second time this year farmers of the country meet here today to consider launching of a national co-operative marketing movement. This time it is of livestock. After working nine months a farmers' livestock committee of 15 named by the American Farm Bureau Federation brings in its report today to a ratification conference representative of livestock producers.

Unlike the national grain marketing plan adopted last spring and incorporated in the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., the livestock plan calls for no pool nor contract covering a period of years. Establishment of a national livestock producers' association is one of the outstanding features of the program laid before today's meeting. More important yet, as the heart of the plan, is the creation of co-operative livestock commission associations at the various stockyards, with allied stocker-and-feeder companies. Co-operative livestock commission companies, which have recently grown numerous, are to be strengthened. A program of orderly marketing is to be worked out. A transportation department is to be created. Livestock statistics are to be interpreted. In addition it is advancing public appreciation of meat as a food.

What the plan proposes to do, in short, is to greatly extend the co-operative marketing of livestock from the farmer to the packinghouse, to do this through a national organization, overseeing, devaluing and working out plans, and to eventually regulate to a considerable degree the flow of livestock to market so as to prevent glut and disastrous price-breaks.

What is expected for the farmer is a larger voice in the sale of his livestock, a saving in marketing costs, a saving in purchase and sale of stocker and feeder cattle and eventually a more stabilized market. Through large numbers of farmers marketing together it is anticipated they may be able to sell to better advantage than the individual farmer does today.

If the plan is ratified today, as it is anticipated it will be, formation is expected at this meeting. Several co-operative livestock commission houses have recently been formed, and more will be established as soon as practicable.

The livestock business runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually and proponents of the plan anticipate a substantial share of this but have no expectation of getting it all. Extension of the plan will chiefly affect small and inefficient, privately owned livestock commission firms on the various markets, according to the committee, which says it is generally recognized there are too many of these now operating to handle the business efficiently.

The problem of orderly marketing, however, does not admit of so ready an answer. The order marketing subcommittee reports today that the accomplishment of the more orderly marketing of the different kinds of livestock is a long time process. There is no easy way or any outstanding short cuts.

A broad campaign of education, dependable statistical information, intelligently interpreted, organization of large numbers of producers on a largely co-operative basis, and some regulation of conditions and volume of production are declared essential to orderly marketing.

Chairman of the committee bringing in the report of livestock marketing committee is C. H. Gustafson of Lincoln, Neb., who performed a similar task this spring for the farmers' grain marketing committee. Gustafson, a stock market director of the Illinois Agricultural association, before that a professor in the agricultural college of the University of Illinois, is secretary of the committee.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Ordeals

Hail, to you, Foch, who in dark days and terrible stood unperturbed, undismayed and undaunted; Hail! for you doggedly bore the unbearable, Never by doubt was the soul of you haunted! Yet though you shrank not when shell-fire was battering, Though you won through to a victory shining, Hark—hear the plates and the cutlery clattering, Well may you tremble at dining—and dining!

YOU who were calm when the cannon were thundering, You who were steadfast when others were quaking, You who thought straight when the others were blundering, You who held on when the armies were breaking; Loudly we hail you who conquered all wavering, Silenced the cravens and ended the whining— But, can you bear all the fuss and palavering, Bear all the burden of dining—and dining?

ADEQUATE always to each opportunity, Saving the world from its darkest disaster, You shall hear plaintiffs in every community— Ever your fame will wax vaster and vaster; Yet when from banquet to banquet they're shunting you (Speeches and speeches, with vinous combining) Well may you blench at the prospect confronting you— Dining—and dining! and dining! and Dining!!

How to Increase Weight and Put on Solid Stay-There Flesh

What difference does it make to you how EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES puts you good, solid, red-blooded, healthy on your bones as long as it does it and makes you feel 100 per cent better at the same time?

Evans' Triple Phosphates is something new and something that really does what is claimed for it. Start to take it today with each meal, and in four days you'll know that you are growing more robust and feel stronger and more active. Continue with the treatment faithfully for 10 days more and note with satisfaction that your nerves are growing more responsive, that your ambition does not lag but is cheerfully obedient to your wishes.

that a touch of color is appearing in your cheeks and that your occupation ceases to be a task and is a pleasure. Notice that never before in your whole life have you enjoyed living as you do today. Weigh yourself at the end of one month and let the scales tell the story.

Fred Howard and all good druggists have agreed to supply this run-down under-developed persons with the understanding that if one month's treatment doesn't give most gratifying results your money is waiting for you. But don't take it, even though it accomplishes wonders in nervous digestion, unless you really want to put on flesh and gain weight.—Adv.

German Picture Becomes Ludicrous in Its Seriousness

EMIL JANNINGS AS DANTON AND WERNER KRAUSS AS HORSPIERRE IN "ALL FOR A WOMAN," A GERMAN FILM BASED ON THE FRENCH "REIGN OF TERROR."

By JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Overlaid with tragedy lends comic relief to the German film based on the French "Reign of Terror." The film, distributed in America by First National, is called "All for a Woman."

Emil Jannings in the role of Georges Danton is as much of a buffoon as Titia Ruffo is in "Pagliacci." Werner Krauss strives for dramatic effect with a stare so fixed that he seems to be afflicted with cataplexy. The other characters in the play are so ridiculously enacted that groups of them in action look like morris men exhibited at a clinic of psychopaths. However, the movie contains one great moment that demonstrates exactly what "mob psychology" means. That term has been rather meaninglessly employed in connection with screen and stage action and reaction. Danton, liberator of the French peasantry and bourgeoisie, a national hero, is brought to trial by Robespierre, once his co-worker and now his enemy.

The trial court is packed with hundreds of the rabble. The judge, examining Danton, asks, "Your name and place of abode?"

Danton laughs. What a silly question! The mob howls at the joke. Doesn't the judge know who Danton is?

With the crowd laughing with him, Danton appeals to its members to decide his case. They rush past the guards. They are about to free him when the cries of the court announce that free food is being distributed outside.

The mob rushes from the court, their patriotic ardor forgotten for the comfort of their stomachs. Danton and his friends are sentenced to die immediately. Before the rabble can fill its stomachs and return to the business of patrolling, Danton and his colleagues are slain by the guillotine.

There is no doubt that Europeans are striving for story worth in their movies, as Chaplin told me after his return from Europe. He said Europeans look upon American films as not being serious enough.

My observation has been that Europeans, especially the Germans, take their seriousness seriously. Stressing their earnestness, they lose sight of the story and overdo their characterizations. As a result their films often have the same reaction upon their viewers as a burnt steak has upon a delicate appetite—not well done, but too well done.

"All for a Woman" is illustration of this. As the title suggests, one expects a woman to occupy the central role. The director probably meant to show that Danton fell from grace and went to his death because of Lucile Desmoulins. However, she is kept pretty much in the background until Danton enters her just before he marched to the guillotine. Never once does the director show an attachment between them that would give motive for Danton relinquishing his leadership of the people. The business of being historically and historically serious blotted out the romance of the play, screen and stage action and reaction. This reviewer has found little to commend in "All for a Woman." It might, perhaps, be fair to say that Raymond Hitchcock characterized the film as "the most interesting and thrilling picture of the day." And George V. Hobart, dramatist, said of it: "It is a speaking achievement in the photograph of silence, a highlight in a world of shadowgraphs."

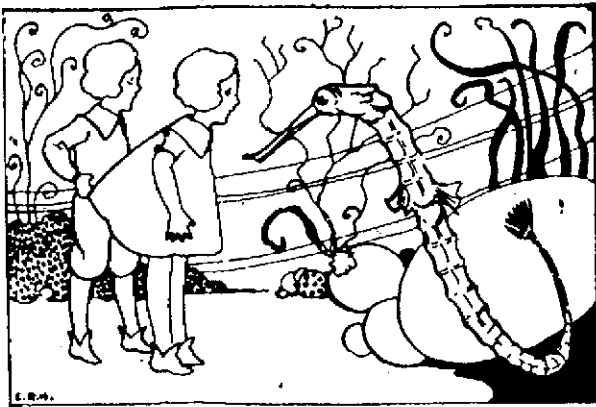

IN THE WAKE OF STARS
Snub Pollard completes "Ten Nights in a Pool Room."
Sylvia Bremer is to play opposite Bert Lytell in "Tommy Carter."
Viola Dana is to be starred in "The Fire-Poker Baby," adapted from an Irvin Cobb story.
Harold Lloyd is working on a comedy, the theme of which is that a man can do whatever he wants to do.
Virginia Ogden, the village gossip in "Way Down East," will play a similar role in "Women of Conquest."
The title role is played by Miss Asta Nielsen in a Danish film version of "Hamlet," to be released in this country.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE ACCUSED

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Inquiry into charges of acceptance of gratuities

Adventures of The Twins

MR. GOBY'S NEIGHBORS

"I TAKE THE EGGS ALONG WHEN I GO," HE SAID

Put Mr. Fifteen-Spine Stickleback didn't need to worry about Ducky Bear-Fish coming and eating up the eggs while his wife was away, for Mr. Bear-Fish was having troubles of his own. As the Twins passed his front door, wasn't he fussing around, too, about not being able to leave his children long enough to hunt his supper. For and isn't it funny, Mr. Bear-Fish was as much afraid of his fierce little neighbor as Mr. Stickleback was of him, neither guessing about the other.

But poor, dear Mr. Goby was the worst of all. He, too, was a shore-fish, and lived right along there near the others. Of course, he might have closed down his roof, and gone and hunted his wife, for Mr. Goby kept the eggs, which would soon be little gonies, tucked away in a hollow place in the sand under a great cockle-shell. But he was afraid of the pipe-fishes, long and thin, like grass-blades, for they could lift up the shell just as easy and slip their mouths under, and Mr. Goby knew it. To say nothing of Spike Star-Fish, who could pick up a cockle-shell with his suckers as easily as you could pick up a raisin cookie with your fingers. Yes, poor, dear Mr. Goby decided that he'd stay at home and starve to death before he'd let anything happen to his children. But he was cross just the same about Mrs. Goby's gadding.

Nancy and Nick went on to Mr. Pipe-Fish's house, but he was away. They met him, however, hunting for his wife. "I take the eggs along when I go," said he, tapping his pocket. "Then they're safe." The kiddies looked on in wonder, for Mr. Pipe-Fish looked too thin to move himself around, let alone a batch of eggs. What queer 'uns the Wiggles were!

These two easy Rinso steps have changed the washday habits of New England

Women have known for a long time that slowly but surely the bending over the washboard for hours at a time was wearing them to skin and bones.

Not just this week's wash, nor next week's, but week after week of it, year in, year out.

Yet the family washing had to be done, even at the expense of their youth and strength.

Today all this is changed. Women all over New England have been quick to see that the two easy Rinso steps save all the back breaking rubbing of washday.

Now they just let their clothes soak themselves clean in the rich soapy Rinso suds and then they rinse them—without any hard rubbing. Pure cleansing materials are so perfectly blended in Rinso that all the dirt is loosened and dissolved from even the heavy pieces of the weekly wash without injury to a single fabric. Only the most soiled spots need to be rubbed at all and these just lightly.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone. Rinso comes in the regular size, 8c, and the big, new size, 30c. Get a package today. Don't rub your youth away. Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Boxing

Mike Castle and Barney Burke, both from Lawrence, are reported to be in great form for their ten round battle at the local club show tonight. This fight was arranged to settle the claims of both boxers to the ownership of the featherweight crown of Lawrence. The pair have trained as never before and the rivalry is at the fever pitch.

Castle is noted for his cleverness and ring generalship. While still a youth he possessed the head of a veteran, and uses his many assets to the best of all times. His "think tank" has served him well in many a rugged battle. Burke shines as a hitter and he feels that he can take a few of Castle's shots to get over one of his haymakers. He is out to score a knockout and thereby clearly establish his right to be looked upon as the king of Lawrence featherweights.

While the Lawrence "specialty" is attracting great attention fans are not overlooking the other ten round event which will bring together Mickey Travers of Boston and Young Jack Sharkey of New Bedford. These boys come with formidable records, and are in rare form for tonight's battle. The preliminaries, too, are bound to go over big as they will be furnished by a quartet of action producers.

Frank McMillin is said to be ready to jump back into the frame. He has been working out with Johnny Avila and several others, and is in fine fettle. Frank has quite a list of kayos to his credit, as he is one of the hardest hitters of his weight in these parts, and he is anxious to add a few more to his string.

Johnny Quinn, who recently defeated Sam Ross here, to later injure an arm in a football game, is recovering.

ARCHIE NISBIT, U.C. FULLBACK AND STAR PUNTER. DEMONSTRATING THAT A TOENAIL, MORE OR LESS MAKES LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN THE SHAPING OF A FOOTBALL HERO

By N.E.A. Service
BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 10.—It was the eve of the season's two big games. Gloom settled heavily over the training quarters. Cripples, cripples everywhere, and not a drop of back-field jazz in sight.

Somewhere, somewhere, something had to happen or the University of California football squad would fall down and break its tradition.

Fiction plotters have for years had their chance and have produced chimerical situations. So it was up to life to produce something new.

Kill That Doc Bull!
Up steps Dr. Boles Rosenthal, medical attaché to the football team, and turns the tide.

A toenail, says he, must save the day. There was no other way out. A punter had to be had and Archie Nisbit, fullback with a terrific foot wall was the one possibility. There was one great difficulty to be surmounted, however. A week previous Nisbit had dropped a weight on the big toe of his kicking foot and the nail had come off, leaving a raw and tender spot.

Evans Tells How Centre Crosses 'Em Up

COACH MORAN - OF CENTRE - WHO APPLIED 'FOOTBALL STUFF' TO FOOTBALL

By BILLY EVANS
(Copyright, 1921, The Lowell Sun)
The change of pace is an effective on the gridiron as the ball field.

Coach Charley Moran of Centre college has proved that theory to the satisfaction of the old Harvard.

With "Bo" McMillin playing the leading role, Moran treated Harvard to a bitter dose of the "double cross".

Centre college sprang the big surprise of the season when it defeated Harvard 6 to 0. The victory for the little Kentucky college over Harvard was due to brains, with Centre showing the way.

In 1920 the slogan of Centre college was "Score." Piling up top-sided scores against the opposition was the big idea. In 1921 Centre changed the "Score" slogan to "Hold 'Em."

Changes Style
In 1920 the use of the forward pass was the favorite play of Centre. Coach Moran had devised a score of formations that baffled his opponents. In 1921 Centre changed its style of play entirely. Moran having built up a reputation on the forward pass, used that style of play as a threat against Harvard. The Crimson players were coached to constantly be on the alert for the forward pass.

Then it didn't happen. Instead of the pass Moran used a running attack of half back and runs around the end were his favorite plays. With the Crimson line wide open, expecting the forward pass, the running attack.

Coach Moran simply brought some of his baseball knowledge to the gridiron. As a National League umpire, he has observed that the great pitchers were the fellows who used their brains, the pitchers who used a change of pace, mixed them up, so to speak. He also observed that the team that constantly used the same style didn't get very far. It was the club that mixed the hit and run with the steal and sacrifice, and resorted to the waiting game when the pitcher was wild, that was hard to beat.

Coach Moran's centre college team defeated Harvard because it treated them to the old change of pace. The story is best told in a statement made by "Bo" McMillin, by the way, made the touchdown that beat Harvard.

Bo Tells Why
"Centre college beat Harvard by crossing the Crimson players and coaches. Last season we resorted to open play almost entirely played the same that thrilled the spectators, but we were beaten. Centre has an even more varied system of open play this year, but we didn't use it. The forward pass was our threat play. Harvard was constantly expecting it. It opened up the line, making a running attack most effective."

Coach Moran in explaining the victory simply said: "Centre played brainy football. Our line surprised Harvard by its ability to hold. Our running attack upset them because the Harvard players were always looking for a forward pass."

Is the nine-game world series too long?

Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, feels that it is.

President Johnson of the American league takes a similar view. As a matter of fact, the American league head has always been a strong advocate of the seven-game series. He strongly opposed the change to nine games.

President Heydler of the National league is in favor of the nine-game series. He admits the clash between the two New York teams did drag, but feels that it was due to all the games being played in one city. Since such a happening is certain to be the exception, he does not believe the 1921 series a fair one on which to draw conclusions.

There is no denying that the New York series did get a drowsy. Possibly it was because all the games were played in the one city. The fact that the attendance fell off about ten thousand for the eighth game, made it seem that the public had more than its fill.

It had always seemed to me that a seven-game series was ideal. I have umpired in both the seven and nine-game events, and know from experience that seven games instead of nine appealed much more strongly from the spectators. I do know that the players much prefer the shorter series. The magnates who profit considerably from the extra games, no doubt look on the nine-game affair with favor.

The world series should be short and snappy, yet long enough to give the competing teams a chance to show their real ability. Three in five is too short, five in nine seems a trifle too long, while four in seven looks like the best bet. Judge Landis is certainly to suggest that the series be shortened. The final decision, however, will be up to the magnates.

MEET BILLY EVANS, NEW PEABODY A. C. TO PLAY BOXERS, MANAGERS AND FANS TO ORGANIZE

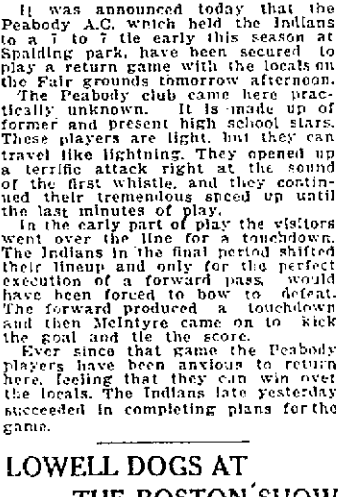

PEABODY A. C. TO PLAY BOXERS, MANAGERS AND FANS TO ORGANIZE

It was announced today that the formation of a state organization of boxing promoters, managers, boxers, seconds and boxing fans were under way here today as the result of a meeting of sport enthusiasts last night. Senator James A. Walker, author of the present state boxing law, made the principal address. The name "Federation of Professional Sports" was suggested for the organization, which its founders hope will eventually develop into a national body.

Billy Gilson, who presided at the meeting said his idea was to perfect an organization along the lines of the National Lawn Tennis association, but to make it more democratic.

Look after the interests of the sport. Bonnie Leonard and Jack Britton, boxing champions, pledged their support to the enterprise.

A committee of 15 was appointed to adopt a declaration of principles.

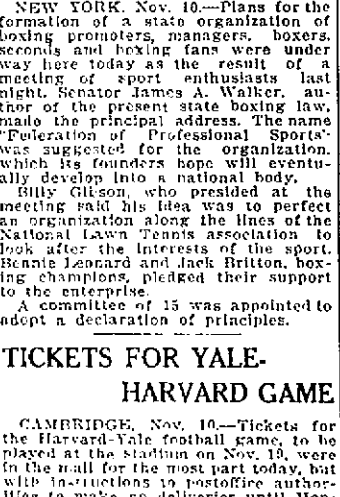

PEABODY A. C. TO PLAY BOXERS, MANAGERS AND FANS TO ORGANIZE

Charles E. O'Connor, popular in Boston Terrier club circles all over New England, is somewhat disappointed in the number of Lowell entries sent to the Boston show, which opens tomorrow and continues through Saturday. In Mechanic's building, Boston, he is delighted to get several of Lowell's best ones for the exhibition stalls, but hoped to have more of them. However, it is said that nearly 400 fancy Terrier family fairs as a ribbon-picker and present possessor of two fine silver cups which are on display today in the Terrier exhibit.

Kirkpatrick exhibits two fancy Boston Terriers of a well known strain, male and female. These are pups about 16 months old, and have all the good marks necessary for entrance in the show rings.

The Davis entry is the son of the great Sweet XLIV, owned by Victor St. Jacques of Gorham street. St. Jacques tells the Sun dog expert that he could not show any of his fancy dogs this fall because of other duties.

The Gorham street fancier will, however, send three handsome pups of his kennel strain to the "Big Eastern" show in Boston, next February. Numerous other Lowell Terrier owners will also go after ribbons at that exhibition.

BATTERY B HAS PISTOL LEAGUE

A pistol league in Battery B was organized at the meeting in the armory Tuesday evening and a schedule of matches was arranged. The league will be formed and official individual records of their performances will be kept. Any member who attended drills at least twice a month is eligible to participate in the pistol competition. The teams will be under the direction of Lieut. George Farnes.

The league, however, will be under the general supervision of Col. Brown of the adjutant general's office, with those officers from the battery attending its affairs: President, Sergt. Walter T. Mitchell; vice president, Sergt. Captain Desmarais; treasurer, Sergt. Ernest P. Brady; secretary, Corp. Raymond A. Richards.

McGILL MAY PLAY HARVARD
MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—McGill university's hockey team is preparing for a busy season with college teams from across the border. Harvard is the latest college to ask for a game with the Redmen. Others who are expected to cross hockey sticks with McGill are Cornell, Dartmouth and Boston college.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT PRO-ROGUE TODAY

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The session of parliament which opened in February, ends today with the prorogation of both houses by royal commission after the brief autumn sitting which began Oct. 18. This special session, which the government was able to arrange on short notice, due to the fact that parliament had merely adjourned in August instead of being prorogued, was summoned to deal with the question of unemployment. While this problem was duly taken care of the interest of the members has been mainly focused on the Irish peace negotiations.

Several members of parliament viewing with some apprehension, the uncertain state of the Irish situation at the present time, last night urged the government to allow another adjournment instead of the definite closing which a prorogation implies. Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons, however, declared that nothing stood in the way of proroguing the body and reminded his anxious inquirers that Prime Minister Lloyd George had repeatedly promised that nothing would be finally settled with regard to Ireland without calling the house together. A new session could be opened, he pointed out, should developments require it.

Members separated over night with some feelings of anxiety, mainly due to the belief, which nevertheless was not unanimous, that an Irish settlement will be rendered impossible by the attitude of Ulster. It is not believed, however, that the peace negotiations are necessarily doomed to a sudden collapse, whatever the attitude Ulster may adopt.

FIX DATE TO ANNOUNCE R. R. WAGE REDUCTIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Decision on the date when announcements of wage reductions will be posted by eastern railroads, was to be reached at a meeting of the Association of Railway Executives here today. Another meeting, at which problems involved in the proposed reduction by 10 per cent of the wages of train service workers were to be considered, was to be held by the eastern presidents' conference. It was forecast the wages of men in the shop crafts and of unskilled laborers would be cut to the going rate for the same class of work in other industries.

Under the provision of the transportation act, 30 days' notice of wage reductions must be given, and at the expiration of this time conferences will be held between representatives of the roads and their employees. Disputed cases will then be filed with the railway labor board in Chicago.

The decision of the labor board yesterday, in which the wages of virtually all classes of employees of the New Orleans and Great Northern railroad were cut 10 per cent, gave the railroad executives reason to believe the board would act at once on any cases referred to it.

The park department has been pretty busy during the past few weeks in many places. New shrubbery has been planted at Wannanland park in Pawtucketville during the past week. The hydrants at Shedd park have been put in working order in preparation for the flooding of the park for skating.

The flooding will take place between the first and tenth of December. In the new few days a row of oaks will be planted from Rogers street along Knappe avenue to the cemetery in order to further beautify that district.

At present there are more men on the park department payroll than ever before. Supt. Kernan is doing this in an effort to help out the unemployed. His hardest task just now is to satisfy the demand for permits for the use of the playgrounds, the Fair grounds in particular. Mr. Kernan thinks that in future years, it would be a good thing if the local teams would leave lots for the grounds or form a league similar to the Twilight League in baseball. This would prevent clashes and controversies and facilitate the letting of the grounds to the best advantage.

WESTFORD TOWN MEETING
Herbert E. Fletcher was elected moderator at the special town meeting held in Westford Tuesday night. The article relative to appropriating money for school purposes, was laid on the table. The article calling for the transfer of $500 from the snow fund to the park department was defeated. The article relative to a new valuation this year by the assessors, also met the same fate. The meeting was adjourned until Monday night, November 23.

HELD CALICO PARTY
The calico party held last evening in the Chubb's hall, drew a full house for the benefit of the coming fair at the First Universalist church in this city, was a big success. The affair was given under the auspices of the Neivich club and was largely attended. General dancing was enjoyed and during intermission refreshments were served. The affair was in charge of Miss Fitz B. Thompson and Mrs. Nettie Roberts.

PARK DEPARTMENT BUSY

Improvements at Fort Hill Park and at Shedd—Big Force at Work

The park department is making some important improvements at Fort Hill park. The road leading to the summit has been repaired and parts of it re-concreted. A gravelly sidewalk with grass border has been laid from the park entrance on Rogers street to Hanks street. On the opposite side of Rogers street, the Rogers Hall school has contractors laying a gravelly sidewalk with grass border from Hanks street to Fort Hill ave. At either end the corner has been rounded by the street department so as to lessen the danger of accident, which was particularly great at the corner of Fort Hill avenue and Rogers street.

The park department has been pretty busy during the past few weeks in many places. New shrubbery has been planted at Wannanland park in Pawtucketville during the past week. The hydrants at Shedd park have been put in working order in preparation for the flooding of the park for skating.

Are You Running Down

and gradually losing your strength and vitality? Is your blood getting thin, and are you becoming nervous, and when you get up in the morning, are you as tired as when you went to bed? These are symptoms of neurasthenia, and deranged stomach. The frequent causes of this condition are overwork and worry.

First of all you must set your stomach to right, and correct the serious disturbances, such as indigestion, constipation, and at the same time flush the kidneys and make the liver active. To accomplish this result—you cannot take a more reliable and better remedy than the good old standby, SEVEN BARKS made from the extracts of roots and herbs. It has been recognized as a standard remedy for stomach, kidney and liver troubles for nearly 50 years.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with biliousness, indigestion, liver or kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the wonderful results.

Get at the root of all stomach troubles by driving all poisons out of your system for good. You can do this by taking nature's remedy, SEVEN BARKS. One bottle at a small cost will prove its value. Ask your nearest druggist for it today.—Adv.

GIRLS! GROW THICK
LONG, HEAVY HAIR
WITH "DANDERINE"

Buy a 35-cent bottle of "Danderine." One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass of soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Adv.

WENT TO BUY LIQUOR, ROBBED OF $1500

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 10.—Alexander (tells of) Chicopee, Mass., and Charles Talonius, of Springfield, Mass., complained to the police last night, that six armed men robbed them of $1500 in a tenement building here on Monday night. After questioning by the police, the two men admitted that they came here to purchase liquor after meeting a man in Chicopee who told them of a large shipment of whiskey arriving in Hartford from New York.

The informant escorted them to this city, they said, and led them to a back room in a first and second floor Windsor street, where they were confronted by six men with revolvers, they said. After taking $500 in cash from the pair, Talonius was invited to write a check for $1000 which he did, according to their statement. Five of the men departed and the other men kept them under guard for four hours and then released them, they said.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used is a simple remedy made quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results, it beats anything else you ever tried. Daily sips of the ordinary cough or chest ailment stop the ordinary cough or chest ailment like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 24 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had in the drug store. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK
BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this, get out a small amount of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Then take a little calomel powder and rub over the pores of the skin and leave them open and unsightly—and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out. While the simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get calomel powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

CHARLES EDWARD AUSTIN

Old Time Music Store Keeper, Organ Maker
and Vet

Charles Edward Austin, veteran of the Civil war and old-time musician and cabinet maker, believes Merrimack square to be about the best little spot for recreation that there is in Lowell. He likes to come down town in an automobile and ride through the busy streets that intersect out in front of The Sun building. He has traveled through the square a good many times during his lifetime in Lowell, although the popular music store that he used to conduct just around the corner on Bridge street, about where Fairburn's market is today, is a thing of the misty past.

Turn back the pages of the old music book.

Remember the time when you danced to the inspiring strains of "Maggie Murphy's Home" and "After the Ball?"

Tap your memory wires again and see if you can hum "On the Banks of the Wabash Far Away" or "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon."

Have you forgotten "Annie Rooney," "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," "My Mother Was a Lady" and all the other sentimental ballads of those bygone days when popular songs were just beginning to attract attention and "My Old New Hampshire Home" was about the highest hit that ever came from the pen of the song writers?

Those were the happy days in Lowell music marts! And the sudden advent of "rags" brought in the money—Oh, yes, indeed!

Those were the days when Charles Edward Austin's music store on Bridge street was a popular spot for Lowell song and dance artists, concert singers, orchestral players, church organists and choirs. And today, Mr. Austin, 81 years old and memory as good as ever, will tell you, if you drop in at his home at 76 Smith street, just how it happened. And you will be well paid for your visit.

Only don't stay too long. For Mr. Austin is not quite so spry as he was when he used to repair organs and pianos and melodians, and even manufacture every part of the musical instruments with his own hands and tools if necessary. Today he suffers from a physical disability that comes with the years, but his memory is unclouded, his general health excellent and, he is proud to say, he can eat as well as he ever did, and he was always mighty proud of his appetite.

Mr. Austin, who was born March 11, 1840, is fond of the Merrimack square business district with its cheerful chatter and shifting scenes of the modern panoramic sort. It likes nothing better than to ride down there every other day or so in his daughter's motor car and see the passing throng.

He knows every nook and cranny of the square section. And Lowell music dealers have a warm spot in their hearts for this venerable man, who now is private in the reserve corps of the local musical world.

No local musician mature enough to look backward a few years can forget the Austin establishment that was the pride of the town in the heyday of its career. More than one traveling troupe of musicians "stocked up" at the Austin store. Theatrical stars of the first and second magnitude dropped in while in Lowell to get the latest copies of popular melodies and concert pieces.

Organs were more numerous in those days. American parlors were not complete without one, although some of the stylish folks preferred Chickering or Heald and Davy grand pianos in order to be more up to date. And there was more repair work performed on home organs in those days than is the rule now.

Mr. Austin was expert at his trade as "fixer of organs" as well as other musical instruments. He inherited the trade from his father, Charles Austin, who was a successful musician with a wonderful record. The father was notable for being the first man to manufacture a melodeon in the state of New Hampshire. It was a crude affair—the first one—but later on he turned out some fine instruments that were eagerly bought by musicians all over New England.

Charles Austin was 15 years of age when he came to Lowell in 1878. They first lived on Mt. Vernon street. Mr. Austin has manufactured thousands of piano springs. He was always an adept in that kind of work. But he was familiar with all parts of organs and pianos, and old-time players remember how well he performed repair work on delicate instruments of great value.

Mr. Austin is a veteran of the Civil war and one of the few remaining members of Post 155, G.A.R. He served in one interesting campaign with the old 16th N. H. Volunteers, and was with Banks at Fort Hudson and in various places in Louisiana. The New England campaign against the Rebels with the boys from the Granite State. The Lowell veteran reached the southern battlefields by boat from New York harbor, landing within five miles of New Orleans.

The soldier-organ maker and his wife own a nice little farm in Amherst, where they spend the summer months. The fall of the year finds them resting comfortably in the beautiful home of their faithful, devoted daughter, Mrs. Abel P. Robertson, at 75 Smith street.

Mr. Austin reads the Lowell newspapers diligently, and when he wants a little extra recreation, pores over the farm magazines and similar literature.

The Sun man discovered before he left the Austin domicile yesterday just what sort of cigars the venerable soldier smokes.

No five-centers or Pittsburg stogies for Charles Edward Austin!

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION
Dr. Edward O. Tabor of the Lowell hospital spoke on "First Aid For Children" before the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Bartlett Training school yesterday afternoon. The physician gave an interesting and instructive talk and answered a number of questions from the audience. A musical program followed the speaking. Mrs. E. J. MacFarlane sang "The End of the Road," "Children's Hymn" and "The Chinese Mother goes home, receiving generous applause. Refreshments were served by the domestic science class of the school under the direction of Miss E. Belle Perham, the teacher.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Loves mother! Even a sick child loves the "Fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teapoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

GOOD MORNING, AMERICA!

Premier Aristide Briand of France waves his greetings to America as he lands from the S. S. Lafayette to attend the disarmament conference.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Forty municipalities in the state, outside New York city, elected mayors yesterday. Republicans elected 21 of their candidates and the democrats 13. Three fusion nominees were successful and in Saratoga Springs there was but a single candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Plans for reorganization of the New York post-office and use of armored trucks for the transportation of valuable mail were announced today by Hubert Work, first assistant postmaster general.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Favorable report on the nomination of Henry L. Johnson, negro republican national committeeman from Georgia, to be recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, was ordered today by the senate District of Columbia committee.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Seven clergymen today exchanged the ministerial frock for laborer's overalls and went to work in the building trades. It was a one-day job for them, the result of an invitation by the Central Labor union in return for the clergymen's courtesy in asking labor leaders recently to speak from their pulpits.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—Cecil Harmsworth, under-secretary for foreign affairs, replying to a question in the house of commons today stated the government had received a report that an anti-bolshevik revolution had broken out in the southwestern part of Russia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—John W. Riddle, a former ambassador to Russia, was nominated today by President Harding to be ambassador to Argentina.

Insurrection Breaks Out In Montenegro

LONDON, Nov. 9.—An insurrection has broken out in Montenegro for the purpose of securing Montenegrin independence from Serbia, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome, today, which connects the insurrection with the Albanian situation. A Montenegrin battalion, says the message, has seized the highly important strategic height of Mount Lovcen. Vast forest fires, alleged to have been started by the Serbs, are raging in the vicinity of Podgoritz.

Winter Weather Throughout West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Winter weather prevailed today throughout portions of the middle west. Reports to the weather bureau said heavy snow had fallen in southern Michigan, extreme northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, southeastern Minnesota and eastern Iowa. Snow was falling early today along the lower lakes, the northern edge of New York and in northern New England, the bureau's reports said, and generally east of the Mississippi where snow was not falling it was raining.

Boston Mayorality Candidates Get Papers

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Nomination papers were issued today to seven candidates for mayor. The candidates who appeared before the election commissioners in person to receive the papers, were Charles S. Baxter, former mayor of Medford; James M. Curley, former mayor of Boston; Daniel M. Lane, member of the city council; John R. Murphy, former fire commissioner; Charles S. O'Connor, a member of the school committee; Joseph U. Pelletier, district attorney of Suffolk county and John Sweeney, describing himself as a "socialist labor man." No designations will appear on the ballot. The election will be held Dec. 13. Candidates have until Nov. 22 to file their papers.

NECTAR OR EXPLOSIVE?

Youth Kills Mother By Accident

FAIRLEE, Vt., Nov. 9.—Floyd Marshall, 18 years of age, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Allerton P. Marshall, by accident at their home here today. He was preparing a shotgun for a hunting trip when it accidentally discharged. Mrs. Marshall died instantly.

SAYS KILLING OF McNALLY JUSTIFIED

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 9.—Albert C. Dow, who fired at a group of men who were leaving his house early on Nov. 2, and killed Thomas McNally of Medford, Mass., was declared by Coroner J. J. Phelan today to have been justified in the act.

McNally and several companions were said to have been attempting to remove liquor from Dow's cellar when Dow was awakened and fired at the men.

ENGLAND BEGINS PAYING INTEREST ON DEBT

LONDON, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—An arrangement has been made to begin paying the interest on the debt owed by Great Britain to the United States at the rate of 60,000,000 pounds yearly. It was announced in the house of commons today by Sir Robert Horne, the chancellor of the exchequer.

ALBANIANS HALT JUGO-SLAV TROOPS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The advance of Jugo-Slav troops in Albania has been arrested by heavy counter attacks by Albanians, says a Central News despatch from Rome today quoting a message from Valona to Tempo.

MASKED MEN

WRECK NEWSPAPER

EAST CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 9.—Four masked men broke into the Twin City Sentinel Newspaper plant early today, overpowered night watchman and wrecked the printing press, linotypes and other equipment. The damage may total $20,000. The Sentinel, a recently organized publication, supported John E. Heppa, republican candidate for mayor, who was defeated in yesterday's election by Frank Callahan, Independent.

TO CUT WAGES IN PACKING HOUSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press).—A general cut in wages of packing house workers was forecast today when four of the big five—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co.—requested their employees to consider, in the plant councils, a reduction in pay to be made effective in the near future. No definite amount was mentioned, and officials said their conferences had not determined the size of the reduction to be sought.

Morris & Co., the only one of the big five which has not established employee councils, is expected to make any reduction which the others may agree on.

BELGIUM'S ENVOY

This gentleman wears monocle, plug hat and cane—but he's not English. He's Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, ambassador to the United States and delegate to the arms conference.

Egyptians believe even to this day that every man has a ghost, says Prof. Reinsner of Harvard.

ABOUT THIS TIME O' YEAR

EASY TO TELL WHO WON

It was real Scotch golf President Harding and Sir Harry Lauder played on the links of the Chevy Chase club, Washington. After it was over, the president somehow looked glum. Do you see the braw smile on Sir Harry?

AN EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT

Dramatic Reading by Author,
Actor and Lecturer in Colonial Hall

Frederick Paulding Also Gives Splendid Dissertation
on the Modern Drama

Affair Was Under Auspices of the Lowell Teachers'
Organization

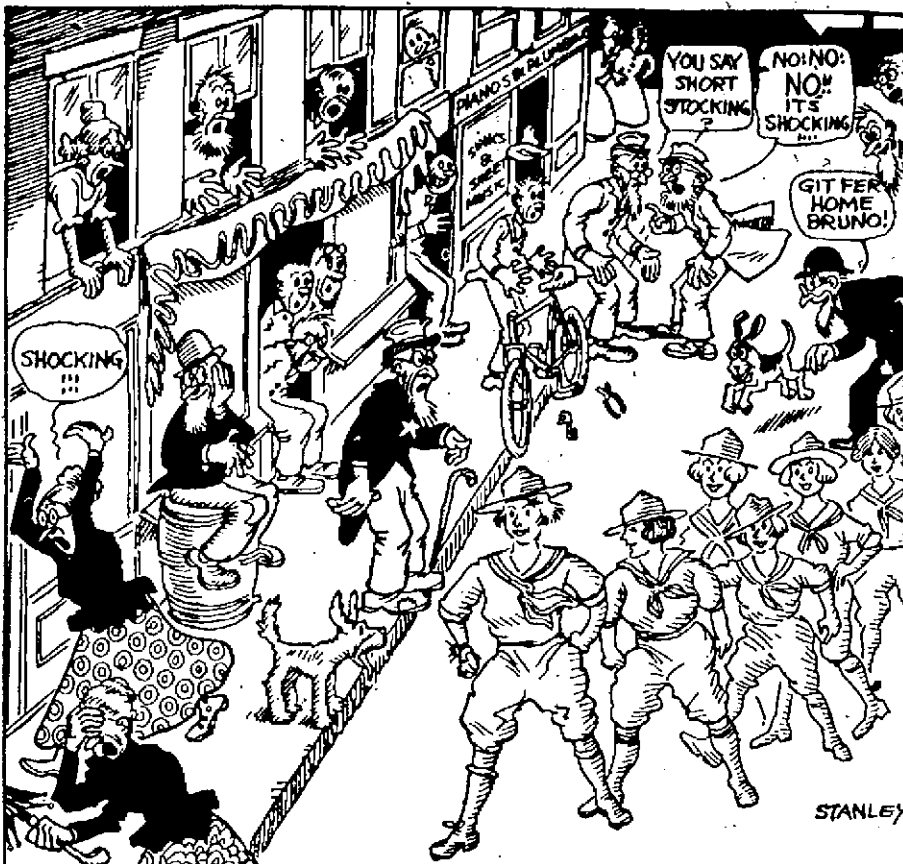

The Lowell Teachers' organization was present in force in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon despite the stormy weather to listen to a dramatic reading by Frederick Paulding, author, actor and lecturer in Colonial hall. The reading was of a play by Paulding, "The Course of True Love," which is a highly dramatic and enjoyable reading of Paulding's play, "The Course of True Love." The play is a story of a young man who is in love with a girl who is engaged to another man. The young man is a doctor and the girl is a nurse. The play is a story of a young man who is in love with a girl who is engaged to another man. The young man is a doctor and the girl is a nurse. THE COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE

Interesting Lecture by Superintendent of Schools at the Hamilton Mill

First in Series of Lectures
Planned for the Winter
Months

"The community enterprise," was the title of an interesting lecture delivered by Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy at the meeting of the Hamilton mill manufacturing association at the plant in Jackson street last night. The lecture was the first of a series planned for the winter months. Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be the speaker at the next lecture, the date of which has not yet been decided. On the evening of January 13, the third lecture will be given by Hon. E. Mack Sullivan of Boston. The meeting was called to order by Agent A. E. Milliken, who after outlining the purpose of the lecture introduced the president of the organization, Michael E. Carroll, who in turn presented the speaker of the evening. Agent Milliken told of the success the mill is having in conducting Americanization classes and praised the city officials for the splendid cooperation given by the Lowell school department to the city's industries. Classes for naturalization are held daily during the noon hour in rooms of the mill, Mr. Milliken said, and the pupils are showing unusual interest. After paying the mill officials a glowing tribute for the efficient manner in which they were carrying on the Americanization classes, Supt. Molloy described popular education as being the greatest community enterprise, because it is most important in its results and because everybody, regardless of political conviction, religious creed or nationality, can obtain it. Speaking of Americanization the lecturer said that there is more to that subject than mere knowledge of the English language and he deplored the fact that many persons do not know what is really meant by Americanism. "The world is not made up of wealth," Supt. Molloy said, "but it is composed of men and women who plan to carry on an enterprise."

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Settlement This Morning in Cases of Lowell Parties
Against Lawrence Man

The cases of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson of Lowell against Thomas J. Sullivan of Lawrence, were settled out of court this morning by counsel. The cases came up for trial yesterday in superior court, Judge Bishop presiding, the testimony being taken up most of the session. Mrs. Emerson's suit was an action of tort for $5000 for personal injuries sustained when an auto driven by Mr. Sullivan on the night of February 7, 1921, ran over the Lawrence-Lowell road. Mr. Emerson's suit was for a like amount to recover for damages to his auto, a Franklin sedan which was smashed in the accident. The arguments for both sides were completed yesterday and the court had started his charge when the session closed. Counsel met this morning and agreed upon a settlement rather than take the cases to supreme court upon exceptions. It would probably have been the case if a verdict had been rendered. The jury was then dismissed.

The grand prize for the best picture submitted in the Lowell chamber of commerce photographic competition was today awarded to A. Leon Hurd of 86 Gates street, "Sunset Silhouette of North Chelmsford." The prize is a $45 Kodak.

The first prize on a scenery picture went to E. G. Buttrick, 307 Wilder st., "Where Black Brook and Middlesex Canal Cross Baldwin street." Second, Mrs. Mary T. Kelley, 30 Ash street, "A Beauty Spot in the Heart of Lowell's Most Beautiful Park—Fort Hill." Third, Miss Louise Bancroft, Y.W.C.A., "Sunset at Lakeview." Prizes for photos of residential sites and buildings, monuments, etc., were awarded as follows: First, George W. Upham, 191 Middlesex street, "Old Stevens House." Second, Joseph Silva, 214 Chestnut street, "Immaculate Conception church." Third, Joseph A. Ouellette, 826 Moody street, "Court House." Prizes in action pictures went to D. A. Benton, William E. Badger and Miss Viola Russell; industrial pictures, William A. Meade, J. L. Shaw and Alvin E. Sykes.

WILL AID SOMERVILLE

Lowell Y. M. C. A. Ready to Assist Organization That
Was Burned Out

The Lowell Y.M.C.A. stands ready to aid the Somerville Y.M.C.A., which was destroyed by fire this week. At the present time, the local organization has not heard from the main office in Boston as to what will be done in the way of sending aid to the stricken organization. The Somerville Y.M.C.A. was completely burned down Tuesday night, the plant being a complete loss. There is no question but what help will be needed and the opinion here is that steps have been taken in Boston to do something for the Somerville branch. However, the local Y.M.C.A. stands ready to give whatever aid is called for. At the present time it is engaged in a drive to gain funds to carry on the work for the coming year, but this would not be allowed to interfere in any way in aiding the Somerville people. It is not within the jurisdiction of the local organization to send help without some order from the main office in Boston. When this order comes there will be no delay from the Lowell faction.

DEATHS

LEVASSOUR—Leonore, daughter of Edouard and Salome (Houssay) Levassour, died last night at the home of her parents, 12 Beaver street, aged three days.

BOURKE—Mrs. Annie (Herson) Bourke, wife of Patrick Bourke and a devoted mother, died this morning at her home, 567 Bridge street. Besides her husband she leaves one son, Joseph Bourke and two daughters, the Misses Esther and Mary Bourke.

MULRENNIN—Martha Mulrennin, for many years a resident of this city, but recently a resident of Saugus, Mass., died this morning at his home, 13 Overly avenue, Saugus. Mr. Mulrennin came to this country at the age of 15 years and lived most of his life here. He was a Civil war veteran, being a member of the 7th Massachusetts Battery. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary DesRosier of Saugus, Mass., and Mrs. Nellie DesRosier of Lynn, Mass.; two sons in the United States army; John Mulrennin, stationed at Presidio, Cal., and Wm. Mulrennin, stationed at Washington. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons. The time of the funeral will be announced later, when the relatives arrive from California.

FUNERALS

ZUBA—Janina Zuba, aged 4 years, daughter of John and Magdalena Zuba, died last night at her parents' home, 38 Algonquin street. Owing to the cause of death, the funeral was held this afternoon at 130, Undertaker Joseph Urbanek in charge.

172 NAMES ON BALLOT

Complete List of Candidates
Special Registration Sessions Monday

The total number of candidates who filed nomination papers at the office of the election commission yesterday reached 172 before the clock struck 5—the final hour for filing. This leaves but 10 who had withdrawn from the contest after making out the papers. The totals for each office are: For mayor, 7; for councilor at large, 62; for ward councilor, 61; and for school committee, 39. Those who filed papers too late for publication last night were the following:

COUNCILOR AT LARGE
Lucius A. Derby, 145 First street, proprietor of an electrical establishment in Middle street, former member of the city government and prominent in the Sons of Veterans.
Alfred J. Gregoire, 135 Liberty st., conducts a pool parlor at 334 Bridge st.
Edward F. Durcell, 259 Fairmount st., a contractor.
Demetrios Damianakos (known as James Danas), 62 Gorham st., proprietor of fruit and confectionery store.

WARD COUNCILORS
Ward 1, Francis A. Goward, 274 Appleton st., auto repairman.
Ward 2, Edward M. Appleton, 51 Columbus street.
Ward 3, Edward McCormick, 3 Daley's court, brick mason.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE
J. Eugene Mullin, 6 Blechnery street, insurance agent. Mr. Mullin took out papers yesterday afternoon and was the last to file. He is prominent in local amateur entertainments. A few errors in the list have been made, and are corrected below.
Robert F. Dalton, for councilor at large was named as Robert P.
Open Mullin, for councilor at large, is a contractor at the Bay State Cotton Corp. instead of a piper, as was stated.
Eugene J. Caisse, mentioned as a candidate for councilor at large, is a candidate for councilor from ward 6.
The entrants have until Saturday to withdraw their names should they decide to do so. After that time

PULLING FALSE FIRE ALARMS

Warning Issued Today By Judge Fisher in Juvenile Court Session

Four Boys Charged With
Sounding False Alarm
Were Fined $12 Each

The practice of pulling false fire alarms must be stopped in this city, declared Judge Fisher in the juvenile session of the district court today during the arraignment of four young men charged with giving a false alarm for fire. The youths, who gave their names as Carl Wessner, Antonio Perry, James McMahon and Harry Heanley, were fined $12 each. They ranged in ages between 15 and 19. In prosecuting the cases Deputy Chief of Police Hugh Downey asked the court that severe punishment be meted such offenders as recently the practice of ringing in false alarms had become altogether too common. The court before imposing judgment severely arraigned the youths and impressed upon them the seriousness of the complaint. It was alleged the youths were responsible for a false alarm pulled in from box 411 on Boston road, Halloween night, Oct. 31. The four defendants were taken into custody several days later and after close questioning by the fire authorities and police charges were preferred against them.

TO INSTRUCT GREEK CLASSES

Young Women Secures
Services of Mrs. Prasinos

New Instructor Wants to Work in Harmony With Other School Agencies

Will Arrange to Help Young Mothers Recently Arrived
From Greece

The International Institute of Young Women at 25 Palmer street, a branch of the Young Women's Christian association engaged in sociological work in the interest of the city among the foreign groups, has made a marked stride toward the attainment of their purpose in securing the services of Mrs. Helene Prasinos as an instructor for the Greek classes.

MRS. HELENE PRASINOS

Mrs. Prasinos was born in Greece and received her early education in her native land. After five years spent in Egypt where she studied French and Arabic she went to London to pursue her studies in English. During the war she was a nurse at St. Mary's Albanian Infirmary, and there experienced the thrills attendant upon the frequent Zeppelin raids. Mrs. Prasinos came to the United States in 1917, and since her arrival has been actively engaged in institute work in Akron, Ohio, where, in addition to her regular employment she found time for a course in business training. Two weeks ago she came to Lowell to assume the direction of the classes for Greek women and children. The new instructor believes that Lowell presents a wonderful field for her activities and is delighted with the prospect. She hopes to have classes in cooking, sewing and general health work formed in a short time; in fact, the cooking classes for children have already started with an enrollment which is very gratifying to Mrs. Prasinos. She is particularly interested in the health classes of which she is to have charge, and is arranging for a class to help the young mothers recently arrived from Greece to learn the proper methods for the care of their children. Mrs. Prasinos is desirous of working in perfect harmony with other school agencies. Her aim is the aim of the institute; the betterment of the community.

IN SILENT PRAYER

Telephone Operators Will
Honor the Unknown Dead

During the two minutes following noon tomorrow, while the body of the unknown soldier is being lowered into the grave at Arlington cemetery, at the nation's capital, there will be a complete cessation of telephone service in the territory of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company. At a given signal at the stroke of noon, the operators at every switchboard will cease answering calls and, standing at their switchboards, will observe the recommendation in the president's proclamation asking all to spend this two minutes in silent thanksgiving and prayer. Telephone employees were notably exact workers in war service organizations and the patriotic spirit survives in a marked degree. When the president's Armistice day proclamation in connection with the ceremony is read to the tourist of the unknown soldier was published, some employees suggested that all be permitted to observe it in the manner already described. The suggestion was heartily approved by the management. A notice to telephone users of the company's intention to cease service during the two-minute period is published over the signature of W. H. Driver, Jr., vice president and general manager. Manager Leathers of the local exchange announced today that the business office at the company's headquarters all day tomorrow, the telephone service to be continued, of course, as usual.

MEETING TONIGHT IN SACRED HEART HALL

All is in readiness for the meeting this evening in Sacred Heart hall, East Pine street under the auspices of a group of women from Notre Dame de Lourdes parish. The evening's program will be presided over by Representative Adolphe Herard and the speakers will be Representative Henri Achin, Charles Palmer, editor of L'Echo; Raphael Dandry, treasurer of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit union, and others. There will also be entertainment numbers by Joseph Renaud, Lionel Renaud, Alfred Savard and Henri Savard. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Yvonne Robinson, Mrs. Noela Lane and Misses Emma Clement and Jeanne Gauthier.

ULSTER REFUSES TO SURRENDER

Statement Issued After Meeting of Ulster Cabinet Members Today

Lloyd George to Submit Report Outlining Negotiations With Sinn Feiners

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—A statement issued after this morning's meeting of the Ulster cabinet members here concluded as follows:

"Sir James Craig (the premier) on behalf of the cabinet of Northern Ireland, wishes it clearly understood that there can be no surrender of Ulster's rights."

The statement promised by Premier Lloyd George outlining the negotiations with the Sinn Fein representatives had not been received by the representatives of Ulster this forenoon, but Mr. Lloyd George sent word he hoped to be able to supply it during the afternoon.

The British cabinet met at noon and it was announced that another meeting of the northern Ireland cabinet would be called as soon as the detailed statement was received.

Mr. Lloyd George meanwhile suggested that his meeting with the Ulster cabinet go over until Friday. The Ulster communiqué indicated that without the British premier's statement, the Ulster cabinet was unable to make formal reply to the government. The text of the communiqué said:

"An apology to Sir James Craig was received from Mr. Lloyd George stating his inability, owing to pressure of work, to supply the detailed statement of the proposals promised by him yesterday. He hoped, however, it would be possible for him to furnish the document this afternoon, and he suggested the meeting of the northern cabinet with him should be deferred until Friday."

GARAGE BROKEN INTO
The garage of William S. Bailey at North Tewksbury was broken into sometime last night or early this morning and a considerable amount of automobile accessories was stolen. The local police were notified today. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. Two tires, three tubes, about 15 chus of grease, spark plugs, and other auto parts were taken. A search for the culprits is being made.

ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR THOMPSON

Three years ago tomorrow, Nov. 11, the guns of the conflicting armies stretched along the battle lines of Europe were stilled. Millions of hearts and voices were raised in thanks to Almighty God for the armistice that brought rest and hopes of peace to the war torn nations of the world.

No day stands out more vividly in the minds of the American people than Armistice Day, and the date of November 11th, 1918, and its successive anniversaries will always be marked by appropriate ceremonies in honor of those men, living and dead, who served their country in the war for democracy, and by expressions of thankfulness that from the armistice sprang peace.

THEREFORE, do I make proclamation, as Mayor of the City of Lowell, that it is most befitting that the people of our city pause tomorrow and reflect upon the events of that epochal day of three years ago and pay all homage to those men whose noble sacrifices made possible the termination of history's most devastating conflict.

(Signed)

PERRY D. THOMPSON,
Mayor of Lowell.

VISITING INSPECTOR PAYS LOWELL VERY FINE COMPLIMENT

Representative of Mutual Inspection Bureau Well Satisfied With Conditions Here—Will Complete Inspection Here This Week

Lowell is the cleanest city in New England, according to Chief Inspector H. R. Flanders of the Mutual Inspection Bureau of New England, who with Inspectors H. C. Goddard, C. E. Hogan and G. C. Goldthwait, is completing a thorough inspection of the business and residential sections of the city. The four inspectors have been at work in Lowell nearly a month and are now cleaning up a few remaining cases. The inspection is made every four years by representatives of the Mutual Inspection Bureau, with headquarters at Salem, an organization consisting of all the mutual companies in New England. A tour of the farms and outlying districts is made during the summer months, while in the fall and winter the inspectors conduct a careful examination of the cities proper.

While in Lowell the visitors have been making their headquarters at the office of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance company, Central block, of which Joseph Peabody is president. A thorough inspection of the city will be completed by Friday.

To Telephone Users:

In order that we may join in observing the spirit of the President's Armistice Day proclamation, recommending to us all a period of silent prayer and thanksgiving, during the memorial exercises over the Unknown Soldier—

Telephone service will not be furnished TOMORROW during the two minutes following 12 o'clock noon, during which period operators will stand in silence at their switchboards.

QUINCY, Nov. 10.—Miss Myra Lester, living on the third floor of the Durgin & Morrill building in City square, assisted 17 other occupants of apartments there to escape during a fire early today.

The fire started in the Quincy department store, on the street floor and caused damage estimated at $75,000, confined mostly to the store. Offices and apartments on the upper floors were damaged by smoke.

J. J. McAnarney, of counsel for the defense in the trial of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti for murder, had offices on the second floor. When it appeared at one time that the building might be destroyed, Mr. McAnarney went through the smoke and removed papers of importance in the case from his safe.

John McHugh Seriously Injured in Accident Near Bleachery Station Today

John McHugh of 555 Lincoln street, is in a serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of being thrown from a freight car of the Boston & Maine near the Bleachery station, this morning.

As far as could be learned, McHugh attempted to climb a moving freight train near the overhead bridge in Gorham street, at about 7 o'clock, and as he was climbing onto the car he was struck by the side girders on the bridge and was thrown to the ground, landing on his head. He was rushed to the hospital where, because of the length and depth of the cut on his head, it is feared he will not recover.

LIES IN STATE BENEATH DOME

Body Brought From Battlefield Rests Where Martyred Presidents Have Laid

Many Nations Join in Paying Highest Honors to American War Dead

Flowers Placed at Bier—Grow Mountains High—Impressive Scenes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Great and small folk moved in endless procession today through the rotunda of the capitol to pay tribute to the unknown dead lying in such state there as only martyred presidents have known. The day was set aside for it. All who could speak for groups in the land or for the powers of the world were free to place their floral offerings at his bier. Hour by hour the heaping flowers about the casket grew mountain high and spread about the vast chamber. Flowers that bloomed in France were there, and flowers brought in all their beauty from South Africa, 5000 miles away.

There was not a minute of the day unclaimed by those who would do honor to the dead. There was no organization that did not have its part to play.

The exercises were held at 11 o'clock in Keith's theatre, pupils marching in close ranks and without the usual youthful exuberance that characterizes parades of Lowell's young people. It was a remarkable gathering in the theatre, every seat being taken and many pupils and their parents and invited friends standing in order to be present at the ceremonies.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKER

Margaret Slattery Will Address Local Girls—Just Completed a World's Tour

Miss Margaret Slattery, of Boston, will address the young women of Lowell Sunday afternoon, November 20, under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. Miss Slattery will speak in the First Congregational church at 3 o'clock, but her subject will not be announced until next week.

In order that the young women of the city may have seats, reserved seat tickets may be had at the Y.W.C.A. after Friday. All the girls of the city are invited to be present. The gallery will be open to the general public.

Miss Slattery is well known to the people of Lowell, having spoken here on several occasions. During the war she addressed an audience of 4,000 people in the army. She last spoke here about two years ago.

Miss Slattery has just completed a tour of China, Japan, India and other countries in the Eastern hemisphere and doubtless her talk will be on her travels abroad. Further details of the meeting will be announced later.

U. S. PROPOSALS ARE GUARDED

Suggestion for Reducing Naval Forces Said to Be Only One Prepared

Little Known of What is Going on Behind Scenes on Eve of Arms Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Proposals to be made by the American delegation to the conference on limitation of armament, apparently constitute the only suggestion prepared in advance as to ways and means of curtailing naval expenditures without sacrifice by any power of national security. Great Britain is not known to have worked out any formula; Japan is awaiting the American suggestion; France and Italy are more concerned with land forces than navies.

Two days before the conference opens the American proposals remain a closely guarded secret.

To Cut Naval Forces

This much is known: A definite formula for agreement on limitation of naval forces has been reached by Secretary Hughes and his colleagues of the American delegation. The formula is an entirely practical one. It does not attempt to state any general rule for establishing equitable relative of naval forces between the powers. It does not attempt to fix a common denominator by which all navies could be divided and each power assigned by agreement the number of units it could maintain with world approval. The American suggestion will deal with things as they are. It will be a plain proposition of ships, built, building or authorized; of naval bases, of the vital element of naval replacement.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Autoist and Milk Dealer

Fined—Assault Case Continued—Other Cases.

Harold L. Williams was fined $50 by Judge Fisher in district court today, for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. A drunkenness complaint was filed. Following a long conference at the bench with counsel and police, the defendant was given until February 11 to pay the assessment. Williams was arrested in the Highland district on October 29, by Motorcycle Officer Walter Kilian.

For having in his possession milk found to be below standard, Kirilakos Anastasiou was fined $10. He paid.

Milk Inspector Melvin Master prosecuted the case.

John N. Santos of Summer street, was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill. At the request of counsel a postponement to November 19 was allowed. It is alleged Santos shot Thomas J. McDermott late Saturday night, October 15, at the corner of Middlesex and Elliot streets. McDermott was seriously wounded and until yesterday was confined to St. John's hospital. The accused was held under bail of $5000.

A default warrant against George E. Piller, charged with illegally selling liquor, was issued today after the defendant failed to appear when his case was called. He was arraigned on November 4 and continued to today.

Compliments Lowell

finished by the end of this week, or early next week, the inspectors believe. It is particularly in reference to cellars that Mr. Flanders emphasized his assertion that this city is the cleanest in New England. In both the business and residential sections the inspectors found the basements and cellars unusually clean and well kept.

One of the first things they looked for in their tour of inspection was rubbish. In fact, in general refuse stored under stairs and cellar corners or scattered over basements of business houses. These they failed to find, they maintain, praising the residents for the care they exercise in keeping their premises neat. Thereby, they point out, these homes and business structures are free from fire hazards.

A great extent as rubbish stored in cellars is very conducive to fire. Not an instance, thus far, has been found in this city, the visitors state, where there was necessity to make a complaint to the insurance company covering that particular property. The inspectors also expressed complete satisfaction over the co-operation given them by the Lowell public in general, praising the courtesy had been shown them throughout their tour of inspection.

ments, of the potential naval significance of merchant marines and of other concrete, existing or planned weapons and auxiliaries of naval warfare.

Also it is regarded by those who framed the suggestion as a bold stroke for naval reductions; possibly too bold for immediate realization.

Beyond this limited outline of what is going on behind the scenes, nothing has yet been available.

Japan Willing to Reduce

There is a feeling in some well informed circles that Baron Kato touched the heart of the matter in stating Japan's willingness to reduce her navy famous eight battleship and eight battle cruiser fleet program. To that suggestion is to be added a third, eight, as under Japanese standards of naval obsolescence a capital ship has a first line of but eight years and must be replaced by a new ship within that period.

The American navy has no such definite objective. It does not represent an ordered program of replacement for maintaining any fixed force on a fixed ratio of battleships and battle cruisers.

The old British two-power standard which governed the building program prior to 1914, went by the board with the German fleet. Britain is not today building any capital ships. Four new battle cruisers have been authorized in the way of replacements for war losses and to balance that side of the fleet, but they have not been laid down.

The exact status of Japan's new craft is not known. It is certain, however, that Japan has not started construction on all the super-warships her eight and eight program would require. That fleet ratio, Baron Kato said, would not be achieved before 1928.

The American program of 1916, deferred during the war and greatly slowed down this year by limited appropriations, is in much the same status. It includes six battleships and six battle cruisers. Keels of all have been laid. Actual work on construction of one battleship, the Massachusetts, has been stationary at about four per cent for several months. Work on the other five ranges from 19 to 27 per cent. On the battle cruisers, one is placed at 1.1 per cent; one at 5.5 per cent; one at 6.3 per cent; one at 12.5 per cent; one at 16.5 per cent, and the nearest completion at 20 per cent finished. These figures are for work on the ships and do not include material ordered.

It is suggested no naval power would be willing to stop all construction because of the fact of advancement of knowledge in naval engineering which can be carried on only by building. That phase, it is said, is certain to be given attention.

BIG CROWD HEARS PETER COLLINS

"What's Wrong With the World," Subject of Highly Interesting Lecture

Ten Commandments Beacon-light of Justice Throughout the Centuries

Bolshevism, the Speaker Said, Simply Means the Denial of God

A crowd which nearly filled Associate hall braved the elements last night to hear the noted Knights of Columbus lecturer, Peter W. Collins, in his lecture, "What's Wrong With the World?" Mr. Collins gave a forceful and stirring address, telling of the real nature of Bolshevism and its attendant evils, and each telling point was greeted with a tremendous burst of applause. His most dramatic and eloquent utterance was to the effect that the Ten Commandments, since they were delivered to Moses on Mt. Sinai, have been the beacon-light of justice and contentment throughout the centuries and will be "doing business at the same old stand" when the grass is waving over socialism's grave.

PETER W. COLLINS

Lack of harmony and of service are the great evils of the world, said Mr. Collins, and after a lengthy discussion of Bolshevism from every conceivable angle, and that is mainly what is wrong with the world. Restore and amplify harmony and service and we will ultimately have a government which is truly in accord with that visioned by Lincoln when he spoke of a government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

Mr. Collins' lecture was one of a series to be delivered, all over the country, in the interest of the K. of C. campaign against socialism and radicalism. Grand Knight John E. Hart of the local council introduced the council's lecturer, John V. Donohue, as the presiding officer. Mr. Donohue briefly sketched Mr. Collins' fame as a public speaker, a student of economics, and an exponent of the highest ideals of citizenship. He introduced Mr. Collins, the speaker of the evening, as no stranger to Lowell.

In opening, Mr. Collins expressed his pleasure at the opportunity presented to once more address a Lowell audience. He had come to discuss topics of general welfare which are an imminent menace in this so-called progress age. One issue, greater than all others, is Bolshevism. Bolshevism, as it is now called, has a language all its own which has two branches: the language of the university, which is hard for the average man to understand, and the language of the soapbox, which is calculated to manufacture hatred and discontent, hoping to induce the working people to consent to their use as a crowbar for the overthrow of industry.

Bolshevism is atheism. Bolshevism, continued the speaker, has but one main doctrine, one main foundation, the materialistic conception of history. This has no meaning to the average man, but is merely a combination of big and uncommon words. In the simple language of the people, it means denial of God—in a word, atheism.

The exponents of Bolshevism pretend that this is the doctrine of the working classes, but such is not and could not be the case. Bolshevism is not the answer to "What's Wrong With the World?" The great mass of the working people of the world have a word to say. As Lincoln said, "God must have loved plain people; He made so many of them."

The speaker explained that Karl Marx was the real founder of Bolshevism, although he called it "socialism." There is absolutely no difference, however, the new title being merely a nickname. The word "Bolshevism" is derived from a decent Russian word meaning "the many." It is to be noted that the Russian government does not use this word in describing itself, but styles itself the Russian socialist federated soviet republic. Bolshevism has had many names in its history. It was first called communism—not the communism of Christianity—and has since been known as social democracy, spartanism and by many other names in this country, industrialism.

It is impossible to get an explanation of the doctrine from the ordinary Bolshevik. Marx was its author and greatest authority, and he laid down its basic principles. Not one Bolshevik down to the present day has come from the working classes, whereas any movement that was really of the workers would come from the workers. Thus Bolshevism is not only a doctrine which was not instituted by the workers but the greatest menace to religion, home and morality.

Mr. Collins declared that he could prove every statement he made. He quoted Frederick Engels' socialist manifesto to the effect that "nowadays in our revolutionary conception of the universe there is absolutely no room for either a ruler or a creator, and to talk of a God is a contradiction." This manifesto expressed the true sentiment of mankind, the only morality would be the man-made variety, and man-made morality is "Barn-yard Morality."

The Ten Commandments oppose socialism. It denies the first and profoundest of all, the commandment dealing with brotherly love is contradicted by the socialistic teachings of hatred among the classes. "Thou shalt not steal" cannot be reconciled to the teaching that the present order regarding property be destroyed, since a man's possession is sacred and are not to be taken from him. When they deny the existence of God, they deny the source of all things.

Mr. Collins suggested getting a dozen socialists together—either the "Ingersoll philosophers" or the "rough-neck or wood alcohol proletarians"—and asking them what socialism is. They could not tell you, he asserted. It is not aimed at social reform, for it would destroy society.

Government ownership is not socialism, since it is designed to function for the government and the people's safety and health. Socialism is not a purely political doctrine, as is often urged, since a purely political doctrine concerns the science of government, while socialism would tear it down. The socialistic platform is constructed to deceive the public.

Mr. Collins was called as an expert at the investigation in New York when the socialists were expelled from the assembly of the state. He considered an unwise distinction to be called in this connection. He was on the stand three days during which time he was cross-examined by the socialists themselves, by their attorneys and by the government attorneys.

It developed that there were four points of evidence found against these men. The first was the universal rule that every socialist on taking a government office must turn over to his socialist local a resignation with the date blank, so that he may be recalled at any time by his local, which may be made up in the majority by alien socialists to stop the success of a fourth place of evidence. The final point brought out was that Lenin and Trotsky's call for the Third International, in January of 1919, was adopted in this country by a four to one vote, the call declaring its purpose to disarm all socialists and in the ensuing revolution to destroy all governments except the Russian soviet, including the government of the United States among those to be wiped out.

Worship of Wealth
The lecturer paid his respects to employers who deserve the name of "yellow metalists" through their worship of wealth. He placed the blame for industrial trouble on these men in great measure.

In his travels of over 13,000 miles in the last 12 years he has never met a socialist who really knew socialism and could say he was a loyal American. There is more Bolshevism in the square inch in America than in the square mile in Russia. Before the war, on February 10, 1912, the New York Call, a socialist paper, printed a statement deriding and disavowing the stars and stripes and hailing the day when the red flag of socialism would wave over the country. Again, in March, 1919, the Soviet World, printed in Philadelphia, made an appeal to workers to rise and seize the government.

Seated on the platform, besides the speaker, were Mayor E. J. Heffernan, chairman of the local council, Rev. R. Clement, of Portsmouth, Va., and William H. Gallagher, faithful navigator of Bishop Delany assembly, fourth degree, K. of C.

Commercial airplanes in the United States flew a total of 3,500,000 miles in the last six months.

Am. Legion's Observance
Continued
with fitting exercises to Lieut. Paul T. Kearney square.

The roster of the parade will be made up as follows:

Chief marshal, Commander James J. Powers
Chief of staff, Senior vice-commander, S. Curtis Garrity
Adjutant of staff, Adj. Robert J. Hurlidge
Chief of aides, Junior vice-commander, John T. McDermott
His honor, Mayor E. J. Thompson
Members of the municipal council
Other members of the city government
Members of the dedication committee, comprising Henry Miller, W. Mac Brayne, M. Harrington and W. Leamy

Ladies Auxiliary, Chelmsford Post
Other organizations desiring to participate.

The route of the parade will be: City hall to Merrimack street to East Merrimack street to Auditorium, and return to Kearney square.

Commander Powers stated today that the march will be started immediately after the closing of ceremonies at city hall, the dedication of the square to take place at about 1 o'clock. He requests all ex-servicemen to turn out in uniform, if possible.

The speakers at the dedication exercises will include Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Rev. Fr. William H. Mahon, O.M.I., chaplain of the post, and J. Henry Gilbride, chairman of the committee on the renaming of streets and squares.

It was announced this morning that a temporary sign designating the square as "Lieut. Paul T. Kearney square" will be unveiled during the dedication ceremonies. A permanent sign will be placed there, however, as soon as it is completed.

In case of rain, the dedication exercises will be held in the City hall.

It was announced this noon, after Manager Pickett kindly offered the use of the house to the Legion,

Sing "America"

As the first line stepped within the hall, from the group beside the bier where the flowers were being set in place, male voices rose in blended harmonies that woke the echoes in the high vaulted roof above, now flooded with sunlight. They sang the last verse of "America":

"Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light!"

They sang with a zeal of victory and to hint of sorrow. And the last note died away down the long corridors to right and left as the line that gave the great public its place in the ceremonies moved slowly on and out the western entrance, down over the terrace steps that face out with the white gleam of Washington monument straight ahead and still behind, seemingly cut through the center by the great shaft, the square white bulk of Lincoln memorial on the far bank of the Potomac.

By 10 o'clock a steady stream of people—soldiers, men, women and children, white and black—had begun a continuous march through the Potomac.

THE Y.M.C.A. FUND DRIVE

Report of Two Days' Work

Shows Nearly Half of Desired Amount Raised

With only two days of their campaign elapsed, the Y.M.C.A. teams out to raise $12,000 to carry on work for the coming year reported this morning that they had nearly reached half of the money had been subscribed.

Including today's report, $5,570 has been turned in by the two divisions.

The workers are divided in two divisions, A and B, each having a general and six team captains. The rivalry is great between the two divisions as to which will get the most money. At the present time Division B has quite a lead over its opponent.

The teams will not meet tomorrow but will have another luncheon in the Y. Saturday. It is hoped the desired amount to be obtained by that time so the campaign will not have to be carried over to next week.

Blonds, Adieu! No More in the United States In Forty Years, Says Noted Anthropologist

LOOK 'EM OVER AND WEEP! IN TWO GENERATIONS THERE WILL BE NO MORE BLONDS IN UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN LIKE THESE. ABOVE, LEFT TO RIGHT, MAE MURRAY AND PEARL WHITE; CENTRE, MOLLY KING. AND, BELOW, RUBY DE REMER. AND DR. AUSTIN O'MALLEY, WHO GIVES OUT THE BAD TIDINGS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Madam forgive your husband for casting the lingering eye upon the blond. His interest may be sentimental, but more'n likely he'll tell you it's purely scientific—and get away with it. For the blond is vanishing! In two generations we in the United States will see no blonds, except the imported or the drug store varieties! This information comes from none other than Dr. Austin O'Malley, noted anthropologist of Philadelphia. He fixes the deadline for blonds at the 45th parallel of latitude. This traverses the United States approximately from Bangor, Me., through St. Paul, Minn., to Portland, Ore. "Blonds cannot survive below the 45th parallel," says Dr. O'Malley, "and even in Minnesota they will have a hard time of it. This, of course, means that the American race soon will be dark—almost Mediterranean. 'It's sad to dwell upon,' says the doctor. 'For fairness and beauty have been almost synonymous throughout the ages. All the great heroines of painting and literature, from Helen of Troy to Pollyanna, have been blonds. So it's time the brunette had her day. In two generations, when artists speak of the American type, they will mean the brunette.'

Stiff Knees Get Rusty From Peculiar Form of Rheumatism

New Remedy Weldona Said To Be Very Effective in Hundreds of Cases

Dry and stiff, rusty, creaking joints away! One has to stand for a minute or so before one is able to straighten up. Again one may have trouble in getting on or off a street car. This means a slow form of rheumatism of the joints or arthritis. Stiffness of the joints is not confined to the knees. The shoulders, elbows and hips are often involved, so that one cannot escape from the agony of the disease. Again stiffness of the joints may, and often follows, an acute attack of rheumatism, and, if neglected, tends to grow gradually worse. One of the most successful remedies based on scientific medical knowledge which seems to have marked influence in overcoming this ailment is Weldona. Hundreds claim that rheumatism of many years' duration which resisted every form of treatment has yielded to Weldona. This preparation is put up in tablet form, free from alcohol or harmful ingredients, and cannot disturb the heart or stomach. Those who suffer from rheumatism or know of one who suffers should send to Weldona Co., 132 Boylston street, Boston, for the free book, "Rheumatism," which contains the full details of the disease. It can be obtained from A. W. Dows and all reliable druggists.—Adv.

Pupils have been warned not to leave anything of value in their coats as a lot of petty thieving has been committed in the past few days. Mr. Harris is taking energetic steps to put a stop to this evil.

There will be a mass meeting for pupils in the main building in the gym and for pupils in the Annex in the drill shed Wednesday at recess. Coach McIntyre has just received a challenge for a game with his basketball team from South Portland high school. Steps are being made to try to arrange a game. That the high school team this year will be in the same class as the team of last year is a foregone conclusion. The veterans back are Capt. Gleason, Charlie Brockmeyer, Davis, Gehl, Long, Heslin and Georges. Coach McIntyre expects big things from Capt. Gleason and Brockmeyer. These two showed their class last year and are looking forward to an even better season this year. Promising candidates who are expected out are Robbins who played well on the junior class team last year, Mevis, Sam Brockmeyer, McManis, Ginnells and Duggan. Practice starts immediately after football closes.

LADIES AID SOCIETY

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Swapp, 378 Beacon street, the Ladies Aid society of the Centralville M.E. church held its monthly meeting. The plans for a cake sale were discussed as were the plans of the bazaar and supper to be held at a future date. The hostess served refreshments during the afternoon and was given a vote of thanks for her hospitality.

JOINT RECITAL AT COLONIAL HALL

A delightful musical program was enjoyed by an audience numbering more than 200 in Colonial hall last evening. The artists were Miss Helen Davis, soprano, and Victor Young, pianist, assisted by Samuel Hungerford, violinist. The recital was given in conjunction with the reproduction of their voices on the new Edison phonograph. The Jean Marche Dry Goods Co. was sponsor for the excellent offerings, and the work of each artist was thoroughly appreciated by music lovers. Novel arrangements were made to bring out the clear, tonal qualities of the Edison instrument. No modern invention can come nearer to duplicating the human voice than the instrument exhibited and played last evening. An interesting feature of the program was the singing of the quaintly sweet song, "Darby and Joan," by Miss Davis, who left the stage during the middle of the song, leaving the Edison record to finish the concert piece. The tones of the instrument were exact in duplication of the human voice. The violin solos were also reproduced with remarkable clearness and fidelity. The qualities of the phonograph were brought out with distinctness that really amazed the music lovers present. One of the popular offerings on the night's program was the old, familiar "Danube River," sung by Miss Davis in her excellent manner. It was a pure delight and the qualities of this song were brought out in full measure. The piano playing of Mr. Young was a surprise to many who had never heard him, his touch being strong and his changing tones full of real quality and color. The artists gave several encores.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says: "When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

ALL LOCAL MILLS WILL CLOSE TOMORROW

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS HOLD EXERCISES

Lowell mill corporations are unanimous in deciding to observe Armistice day as a holiday. In addition to the corporations who will close shops all day tomorrow, as announced in last night's Sun, the Tremont and Suffolk mills officials stated this morning that they would observe the holiday also. This action on the part of the largest corporations means that the holiday will be observed throughout the city tomorrow in the fashion most desired. The action of the mills, it is said, has greatly pleased the members of the American Legion, who led in the day's observance that was to be held in Lowell in memory of those who gave their lives in the world war, as typified by the unknown soldier.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL MEETING

At a largely attended meeting of the Trades and Labor council held last evening a communication was read from President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, protesting against the abolition of the department of labor at Washington and substituting it by the welfare department. The president also requested the council to send a protest to the proper authorities.

In the course of the meeting routine business was transacted and the following list of standing committees was submitted by the special committee recently appointed for that purpose:

Executive committee. President Charles E. Anderson, Vice President Parker F. Murphy, Secretary Frank N. Simpson, Assistant Secretary Mrs. Rachael Campbell and Treasurer Mrs. Annie Reagan.

Legislative committee. Charles E. Anderson, Timothy F. O'Rourke, J. F. Burke, Frank D. McNulty, Herbert Jordan, Annie Reagan and Frank N. Simpson.

Organizing committee. Austin F. Kennedy, Patrick F. Murphy, John Hanley, Patrick McFarrell, Jr., William J. Jones, Walter G. Roche and James Wood.

Grievance committee. Bartholomew Swift, Albin Heron, Thomas Crowe, James O. Cate, John H. Bell, George B. Allen and Telesphore Cardinal.

Label committee. George H. Keating, Daniel J. Moynihan, Patrick Bradley, Joseph Convery, J. Paul Downing, Arthur Moran and Dana G. Hart.

Credentials committee. Timothy F. O'Rourke, Peter Gillick and Michael P. Resan.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. John A. Martin and Miss Julia C. Rodgers were married yesterday at St. Patrick's church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Francis L. Keenan. The bride, Miss Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rodgers, while the best man was Mr. John J. Mahan. After December 15 the couple will be at home to their friends at 843 Marsh street.

Fox-Cryan. The marriage of Mr. Leo P. Fox and Miss Catherine C. Cryan took place yesterday at St. Mary's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Starr, a cousin of the groom. Miss Mary P. Cryan was the bride, while the best man was Mr. James Fox. The couple will make their home at 843 Bridge street.

Collings-Cutcliffe. Mr. Harry Collings of North Billerica and Miss Jennie Cutcliffe, formerly of Middlebury, Me., and now of Billerica, were married last evening at the home of the groom, 34 Mason ave., by Rev. Chester J. Armstrong, pastor of the North Billerica Baptist church. The bride, Miss Cutcliffe, is daughter of Mr. Joseph Collings. The couple will make their home in North Billerica.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the uric acid deposits, commonly called "gout," are dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvellous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Dows, drug-gist, and Fred Howard have been appointed agents for Albury in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit. Beauty Specialist Tells Secret

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add a ounce of bay rum, a small box of Jarbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make gray-haired persons look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off." Adv.

Appropriate exercises were held this afternoon in all the local elementary schools in observance of Armistice day. In some of the schools the programs were carried out in the assembly hall, but in the following schools individual class programs were carried out: Lincoln, Butler, Edison and Green.

The programs in the other schools that could be obtained this forenoon are as follows:

HAPPY SEASON FOR STOUT WOMEN

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—There is one consoling thought for the woman who was born too early to be a flapper.

It is that while many of our fashions are shown upon tantalizingly slender figures, most of the modes may be adapted to almost any avoirdupois.

Naturally bouffant garments are the flapper's very own.

But the straight lines and flowing sleeves, the adaptation of the straight lines, belong to almost any age and figure.

An especially attractive model is the Louis Grauer gown of drap d'amour embroidered in steel heads. It is indeed a "perfect love" of a dress.

The long-waisted effect, with cording over the hips, and the long

OPERA HOUSE
The characterization of the principal male role by Kaiman Matua, in this week's presentation, "The Love Bandit," by the Lowell players at the Opera house, is surely a most commendable production and is richly earning the plaudits of the patrons of the city and suburbs. Mr. Matua is giving a perfect interpretation of the role of the young Maine woodsman who turns his attention to city ways and wins the heart and hand of a blue-blood of the metropolis. The remainder of the cast is also seen to excellent advantage. Next week, the great dramatization of mother love, "Over the Hills to the Poor House," will be given.

RIALTO THEATRE
James Oliver Curwood's absorbing north country story, "The Golden Snare," with a splendid cast headed by Lewis F. northwest. The story concerns the northwest mounted police and the spirit of a gripping tale of a man hunt is said to have been well caught in Bessie Love in "Penny of Top Hill Trail," a snappy comedy and the Kingdams. STREET RAILWAY CARS WILL HALT

As a mark of respect to the memory of those who gave their lives in the world war, as typified by the unknown American soldier who is to be buried tomorrow in Arlington National cemetery, announcement was made today that all street railway cars on the Lowell division of the Eastern Massachusetts lines will come to a halt at noon tomorrow, remaining stationary for a period of two minutes. This action was taken by the railway officials yesterday, and notices at once sent broadcast to all division heads. Supt. Whalen promptly issued the necessary orders for Lowell and vicinity.

A HOOCHEMELON FABLE

Once upon a time a watermelon grew in a field, all unaware of the ways of the world. A bad man took the watermelon and plugged it and filled it with a quart of bootleg hooch. TONE UP THE STOMACH

Troubles having their origin in some weakness or disorder of the digestive organs are very common.

Pain and burning sensations in the stomach, nausea, headaches, palpitation of the heart, vertigo, nervousness, sleeplessness springing from this cause are vexing multitudes. Every organ of the body is impaired by lack of proper nutrition, strength and nervous energy needed for success are consumed in enduring discomfort, and the feebleness of age is reached prematurely.

The way to secure sound digestion is to give strength to the organs concerned in the process. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and supply it with elements essential to the vigor of every organ. The stomach instead of being allowed to grow weaker through inactivity is roused to do its work and soon does it perfectly.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box.—Adv.

Do You Have Backache Over Kidneys? Limbs Swell? Try to follow Mr. Agans' Advice

Albany, N. Y.—"Ever since my early boyhood I have suffered from weak kidneys and as I grew older they became worse. I got so I suffered continually with backaches, my limbs would swell, my joints became stiff with rheumatism and my bladder became weak. I would have to quit my work entirely several weeks at a time. I was 'all in' and nearly 'down and out' with this ailment. Nothing seemed to give me any relief although I tried everything I could hear of in the medicine line. I was finally advised to try Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets and through the persistent use of this medicine I was completely cured of all my kidney ailment and bladder weakness and I have never had any trouble from these ailments since. The 'Anuric Tablets' have made a new man of me and I never fail to recommend them when I hear a complaint from anyone suffering with kidney or bladder trouble. Before I took 'Anuric' I had almost given up hope of ever getting better, but, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Anuric, I am in good health and able to work every day." Morton E. Agans, 46 Washington Ave.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples; or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The mentho sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up. A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Adv.

Prospects of Irish Peace
Brighter—Harvey at Lord
Mayor's Banquet

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By Associated Press)—The lord mayor's banquet last evening assumed more than national importance when the prime minister, replying to the mayor's toast to the cabinet ministers, followed the custom of such gatherings at the historic Guildhall of speaking his mind regarding foreign affairs. The tradition has been that the prime minister must touch only on foreign policy in his annual Guildhall speech, but in response to the lord mayor's suggestion that the guests anxiously awaited news of the Irish conference, Mr. Lloyd George quickly expanded the statement, made early in his speech, that "the Washington conference is like a rainbow in the sky," and then passed to the question of Ireland.

He declared that there was a better prospect of Great Britain's proposals to Ireland being heeded today and of Ireland accepting the invitation to enter the British commonwealth as an equal than for years, but that the conference was still in a critical stage. Beyond this he carefully refrained from divulging the results or the possibilities of the conferences with the Irish representatives.

Signs of Revival
In his opening remarks, the premier alluded to the economic troubles afflicting the world, such as followed the Napoleonic wars. He expressed the conviction that the force of the cyclone was already spent, and followed with a recital of numerous symptoms indicating that a revival was coming, particularly the fact that "in every land the slackness that seemed to overcome labor is passing away."

"The world is settling down to work," said Mr. Lloyd George, "and it is work alone that will fill the depleted tills which will enable purchasers to come to the markets. The blue sky is beginning to emerge; the Washington conference, summoned by President Harding, is like a rainbow in the sky. For, without the assurance of peace, restoration of business is impossible."

"This conference comes none too soon. So far, the war has not had the effect which every sane man anticipated from it in arresting the growth of armaments."

"Our Only Safety"
"Man is the most unteachable of all animals. It you inflict punishment upon any other animal he quickly learns the lesson. But, take the late war; it was the most terribly destructive in the history of the world. For that devastation competition in arms is largely responsible."

"That lesson was scoured deep into the flesh of the world, and yet no sooner are we out of it than the nations spend their substance in devising and amassing fresh engines for war; fresh subjects spring up everywhere to justify war. You might imagine that the one purpose and glory of national organization was human slaughter."

"Armaments today are thrice as expensive in men and material as they were before the great war; at the present rate they will soon be a hundred times as destructive and terrible. In peace the burden was crushing. In war the effect will be too terrible to contemplate."

"Disarmament is the only road to safety for the human race. Suspensions, fears, misunderstandings, even quarrels, are as inevitable among nations as among individuals, and, if a deadly weapon is ready at hand, one day they will strike. The American conference has the future of civilization in its charge; therefore, I earnestly pray for its success."

Extend Anglo-American Peace To All
"Twenty-five years ago Lord Salisbury in his famous speech to the House of Commons expressed the faith of the British people in the possibility of a peaceful solution which had just been reached of our last serious difference with the United States of America. Every man who is a man of British blood has been taught to regard a serious quarrel with America as unthinkable. That attitude of mind is in itself a guarantee of peace between the two countries."

"But this conference, held under the auspices of America, ought to carry us a stage further. It is the incalculable of a similar attitude toward and between all other peoples. If that is achieved at this assembly, the Washington conference will be the greatest event of the last 1500 years."

"Better Prospect of Irish Peace"

Of the Irish negotiations he said in conclusion: "I cannot reveal any secrets of the conference room; that is the way to bring a conference to naught. All I can say is, that there is a better prospect of our invitation to the people of Ireland to come into free partnership in the British Empire as equals being heeded today than at any time for years."

He repeatedly emphasized the necessity of peace, saying that it was needed for the welfare of the empire as well as for the good relations of the British Isles. The worst aspect of a family quarrel, he added, was not only that it caused unhappiness within the family, but attracted the attention of neighbors.

Declaring that there could be no distinguished as ever before, representing all phases of national life and including among its members the American, Japanese, Spanish, Brazilian and Italian ambassadors.

"We, who are in the conference in behalf of the British government and people, regard ourselves there as the trustees of the empire, the guardians of its honor and security. It is a high trust; we promise you we will not betray it."

Harvey Drinks From Loving Cup

The American ambassador, Mr. Harvey, participated in the ancient custom of drinking from the lord mayor's loving cup and passed it to Lord Curzon, seated next to him. He followed tradition and stood at attention while the foreign secretary drank, which, according to the story handed down for generations, is necessary, to protect the one who drinks from possible attack while toasting the new lord mayor and lady mayors.

The gathering was as brilliant and senting all phases of national life and including among its members the American, Japanese, Spanish, Brazilian and Italian ambassadors.

"We, who are in the conference in behalf of the British government and people, regard ourselves there as the trustees of the empire, the guardians of its honor and security. It is a high trust; we promise you we will not betray it."

Harvey Drinks From Loving Cup

The American ambassador, Mr. Harvey, participated in the ancient custom of drinking from the lord mayor's loving cup and passed it to Lord Curzon, seated next to him. He followed tradition and stood at attention while the foreign secretary drank, which, according to the story handed down for generations, is necessary, to protect the one who drinks from possible attack while toasting the new lord mayor and lady mayors.

NATURE PUT IRON FOR YOUR BLOOD

In the husks of grains and the peels and skins of fruits and vegetables, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence the alarming increase in anaemia—iron starvation of the blood, with its ever-rising trend of symptoms of nervous irritability, general weakness, fatigue, disturbed digestion, headaches, pains across the back, etc.

Either go back to nature or take organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to help enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves. Over 1,000,000 people annually are using it. Nuxated Iron is sold by all druggists.—Adv.

MORE NAMES ON THE VOTING LIST

One hundred and sixty-four names were added to the voting-lists yesterday at the afternoon and evening sessions of the election commission. Ward 2 was high with 26 registrants, and several of the other wards did almost as well. The number by wards were: Ward 1, 12; ward 2, 26; ward 3, 24; ward 4, 13; ward 5, 15; ward 6, 16; ward 7, 19; ward 8, 18 and ward 9, 26; a total of 164.

Special sessions will be held today at the C.M.A.C. club house from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 P. M. for voters of the district and at the Morey school from 7 to 9 P. M. for voters of wards 3 and 8.

Drawings and paintings in caves in France were executed as far back as 16,000 B. C.

MRS. BISHOP WISHES SHE COULD TELL EVERYBODY IN MASS. ABOUT TANLAC

"Tanlac is simply grand, and I just wish it was so I could go from house to house and tell everyone about it," was the enthusiastic statement of Mrs. Maud M. Bishop, 2 Williams st. terrace, Roxbury, Mass.

"For three years my life was made miserable by awful headaches and nervousness. I never could learn what caused the headaches, but, anyhow, I suffered such piercing pains I was afraid to leave my bed. I had been so mad. Many a time it seemed that the top of my head was coming off, and I would get so nervous I just paced the floor, wringing my hands in despair. At times I was afraid something terrible was going to happen to me, although I know there was no cause for this feeling of uneasiness except nervousness. I had severe pains in my neck and back, and nights when I retired I hurt so bad I could find no comfortable position in bed, and could never get the sleep I needed and always felt tired and worn out."

"Well, I had no more than taken my first bottle of Tanlac until I saw it was the very medicine I had been needing. I have used three bottles now and my troubles have completely disappeared. My head feels as clear as a bell all the time, and my nerves are as steady as can be. Nothing upsets me, and I sleep from the time I retire at night until I am called in the morning. I have gained ten pounds in weight. Tanlac is just wonderful."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Sells, Concord, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS.

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start this bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.—Adv.

AWAIT ANNOUNCEMENT ON STRIKE VOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Announcement of the vote cast this week by the members of the garment workers union of this city on the proposal of employers to adopt the piecework system, was awaited with keen interest here today. It was reported last night the cloak makers' unions had voted almost unanimously against the piecework plan and had given their leaders a mandate to call a strike, effective November 14. A total of 3400 shops would be affected in this city. It was said, and New Jersey workers in the trade would join in the walkout.

LOWELL HIGH ALL SET FOR HAVERHILL

Despite the tough weather conditions of yesterday Coach Eddie Cawley had held one of the longest practices of the year. The most pleasing feature of the day to Coach Cawley was the fact that not one member of the squad was missing from the practice, which consisted of a long signal drill and try-out for the backs in handling the ship-plate and in catching punts. The team is now right on edge for the Haverhill game tomorrow and eager for the opening whistle to sound.

In a men to men comparison with the Haverhill team the local boys more than hold their own with the down river eleven. Haverhill has two outstanding stars in its backfield in Paulsen and Horsch, but these two men are to be carefully watched. The man most feared by the Lowell team tomorrow is Horsch; the Haverhill fullback. He has a reputation of being a mean punter, but if he has anything on Gus Normandin he must be a bear. Captain Nelson at quarterback and Conway at halfback will compare evenly with the Haverhill combination. In the line Dodge can be depended on to outplay the Haverhill center and the rest of the line will more than hold its own. A battle royal is looked for when John McManis and Mansfield of Haverhill clash opposite one another at guard. John is well able to take care of himself and will give Mansfield plenty of competition. Lowell will be far superior on the ends as Condon and Gleason are easy players and very few plays get around them. Tomorrow's game will be Captain Nelson's first appearance since the recent high game and much is expected from him. The game tomorrow should be a bear.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT AT CITY LIBRARY

Not knowing a small pistol he found in the drawer of a desk at which he was working was loaded George Flanagan, aged 15, pointed the weapon at James Condliffe, aged 15, a playmate, and pulled the trigger. The Condliffe boy was shot in the right side. He was rushed to Dr. John's hospital and attended by Dr. James Y. Rodger. The wound was said to be slight and after treatment the boy was taken to his home in Blossom street.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon in the main reading room of the city library where both boys are employed as messengers.

CHURCH FAIR OPENS

The opening of the two-day fair at the Highland Congregational church last evening was a big success. There were more than 200 people present. In the early part of the evening a turkey supper with all the fixings was served and later an interesting address was given by Rev. Mr. Peters of Manchester, Conn. During the evening the various sales tables around the hall did a thriving business. This evening's program will include the presentation of a playlet entitled "The Old Lady's Soliloquy."

LOWELL MOOSE MEET

Dictator Edward St. Leger occupied the chair at the regular meeting of Lowell lodge, 618, Loyal Order of Moose, which was held in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street. Twenty-two members were initiated and several applications for membership were received. Plans were completed for a big class initiation, which will be held Nov. 20. It is expected that Supreme Dictator James F. Griffin and District Supervisor Arthur W. Hayden will be in attendance.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE "PRIMER" In 24 Paragraphs

by WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

Washington, Nov. 10, 1921.

1—Reduced to its simplest form, the main idea behind the conference for the limitation of armament is to head off a war in the Pacific.

2—Right along with this, and equally important, is the desire to put an end to the race between rival navies of the world for first place.

3—The original suggestion was to hold a disarmament conference, but it was soon realized that to propose even a reduction of armament without first removing the principal causes of friction between the powers would prove a mere waste of time.

4—So the idea of a "Pacific conference" was born—the Pacific, and particularly the Far East being the recognized new war-breeding region of the world.

5—The Far East is the new trouble-center because Asia offers stupendous opportunities in the way of trade and both China and Russia are powerless to defend themselves against mighty nations.

6—China has split herself up into two main factions—northern and southern—each with a "president" and many of her provinces have proclaimed their autonomy. Undeveloped, rich in natural resources beyond conception, she is ripe fruit and good pickings for territory-grabbing, or concession-hungry neighbors.

7—Siberia, too, rich in the natural resources which are so essential to the modern nation, is an open invitation to foreign exploitation.

8—For 21 years the United States has stood by her own policy of the "open door" or the Secretary Hay doctrine, meaning Asia should not be swallowed by any nation or group of nations, but should retain her independence, as is, and should keep her door open to the commerce of all countries alike and without favoritism.

9—Though every great power endorsed the Hay doctrine when first promulgated in 1900, some of them have actually failed to live up to it in practice.

10—Japan, since 1914 especially, has been conspicuous for her failure, not only to respect her pledge regarding the "open door," but to live up to the terms of her treaty guaranteeing the integrity of China with Great Britain as well.

11—Japan took over all German rights in Shantung and has consistently broadened them since 1914, refusing to give them back to China, despite the fact that China, too, helped fight Germany. Japan will leave Shantung only on condition.

12—Japan is in Manchuria, where her concessions are many and where she owns outright the South Manchurian Railway. Though in Chinese territory, China can use this railroad only by consent of Japan.

13—Japan is in Siberia and is pushing on into Mongolia; she is in possession of the northern half of the island of Saghalien, belonging to Russia; her troops control the whole length of the Chinese Eastern Railway and are the law of Vladivostok; she is in Fukien province, at Port Arthur, in the Liaotung peninsula and in Korea—annexed in 1910 after successful wars with China and Russia.

14—Tao, a tiny island in the Pacific, is the strategic center of communications between the United States and the Far East. Japan claims a mandate over it by virtue of a ruling of the supreme council sitting at Paris.

15—To many of these Japanese adventures the United States is opposed, particularly those which violate the doctrine of the "open door."

16—Great Britain, and particularly the British overseas dominions—Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa—are fearful lest their interests in the Pacific be infringed upon, and with America, they see many things eye to eye.

17—Britons in the Far East wish to see the Anglo-Japanese alliance abandoned in favor of a more general agreement regarding the Far East and to which the United States would be an important party.

18—They claim Japan has not kept her word with regard to the "open-door" or with Great Britain with regard to the alliance. They fear Japan's secret intentions in Asia.

19—A Pacific conference, British Dominions hope, will serve to clear up the atmosphere of suspicion in the Orient and pave the way for the denunciation of an overt and unpopular alliance.

20—It is hoped that by all the great powers putting their cards face up on the conference table at Washington, and everybody playing square with each other and with Asia, the causes of friction between at least the three principal naval powers can be removed to the extent that partial disarmament, or limitation of armament, will result.

21—Will the conference succeed? It will if the powers give helplessness Asia a square deal and the Hay doctrine is finally put across in a way that will prove effective.

22—If the conference does nothing else, it will show everybody how the land lies. The people of the world will know which nations are trying to promote peace and which are hoping to profit by more war.

23—That at least this much shall be accomplished, full publicity should be given the whole proceedings, without publicity, name-dropping, or any other thing that might encourage nations to have their envious and selfish black and the skull-duggery of the bad ones depicted in bright colors.

24—Aside from justice and fair play to the under dog, America's interests in Asia are economic. If a single foreign power, or group of powers gains economic or political control over the great markets of the world, American workmen, being shut out, and with no outlet for their surplus goods, must leave America and look for jobs in a more virile land. That is one of the things to be guarded against at all hazards.

exercises. Arrangements for the great mass meeting in honor of the glorious dead were completed without a hitch.

Not all of the pupils could attend the exercises owing to the theatre's capacity. Arrangements were made to seat all of the seniors and sophomores, and a large number of freshmen, although many of the first year's classes could not be present.

The exercises at the theatre were notable for their exhibition of patriotic fervor. It was one of the most majestic appeals to the better side of life ever made by the school authorities and the pupils of Lowell schools, and will never be forgotten.

The American Legion was represented by Joseph A. L'Heureux, the Grand Army veterans by Dudley L. Page, Spanish War veterans by Gilbert Hunt.

Freshman Night Program

The program given by the freshmen of the Lowell High school last evening was greatly enjoyed and the attendance very large considering the bad weather and travelling conditions. The offerings included selections by the Mandolin club, gymnastics by the freshmen athletes, an address by Head Master Harris, a reading, "Sevensen" by James Geary '22, and a Dutch dance by freshmen girls. An opportunity was allowed from 7:30 to 8 and after 8 o'clock for "talks with parents."

FOR A CONSTIPATED CHILD

A small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will bring quick relief.

MOTHER, when one of the children is constipated are you going to give the first laxative within reach? It is dangerous to do so. Some have been known to rupture the intestines of little children. Don't be beguiled by the outside sugary appearance. Look into the formula. Calomel is seldom necessary; salts, minerals, coal tar, never!

Unlike these, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is admirable for children, as it is for grown people, too. Mothers have been giving it to children for 30 years. They know it does not gripe, and is free from narcotics. The formula is on every package, and you can see it is vegetable, just a combination of Egyptian Senna and other laxative herbs with pepsin. Use it yourself and you will find it is not necessary to take it every day, nor to increase the dose, and that it is pleasant to the taste. Bottles can be had at all drug stores, and the cost is only about a cent a dose. Have no hesitancy giving it to a baby in arms. It is absolutely safe.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free

Few escape constipation, so even if you do not require a laxative at this moment let me send you a Half-Ounce Trial Bottle of my Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE, so that you will have it handy when needed. Simply send your name and address to Dr. W. S. Caldwell, 514 Washington St., Monticello, N. Y. Write me today.

THE CANDIDATES

Today the list of candidates for the office of mayor, city councillor and members of the school board is complete, and unless the improbable happens, it will go before the voters with little or no change, for their earnest consideration. They will have until the 22d of November to discuss the merits of the various candidates and make up their minds for whom they will vote.

It should be remembered by the citizens in general that we are face to face with an epoch in our city government and one in which the exercise of good judgment on the part of the electorate is absolutely essential to the future prosperity of our city. Unfortunately, it appears that a great many of our citizens regard the business of conducting our municipal affairs far too lightly. They vote for this or that candidate because of their acquaintance with him or the fact that he has solicited their vote. Neither fact is any indication of fitness for a public office. In all probability the most undesirable candidates in the field are the most active workers in the solicitation of votes. As a result it is therefore, necessary for the voters to exercise intelligent judgment in selecting the men who are to serve in the city government for the next two years. Whether we shall have efficient and progressive city government is a matter of very great importance to the people of this city, whether they work in the factories or in the city departments, or whether they conduct manufacturing or other enterprises. Upon whether we elect men of capacity who are honest and at the same time capable of promoting the city's interests, will depend whether we get a dollar's worth in return for every dollar expended by the city during the next two years.

In some of our municipal elections in past years, the candidate who gave utterance to the most sensational charges in street corner speeches and who promised to do terrible things on getting into city hall, usually received the most cordial support of the unthinking voters. It is to be hoped that this will not be the guiding principle in the coming election. It is a well known fact that the men who are honest and capable and who offer themselves as candidates for the sole purpose of promoting the city's welfare are not out with sensational charges against other candidates. They simply have consented to serve the city and to leave to the voters the question of whether they shall be chosen for that purpose. If they are defeated and unworthy and turbulent candidates elected, the city will suffer the consequences in reckless expenditures, municipal scandals, litigation in the courts and general dissatisfaction. Now is the time to guard against these mistakes and to select men who may well be entrusted with the management of our city affairs and who will conduct themselves and the city's business in a manner that will be highly creditable to the great city in which we are all interested. Let it be remembered that mistakes made at the primaries cannot always be corrected at the polls in the final election. It is, therefore, the duty of every voter to look into this list of candidates very earnestly and to vote not for the selfish interest of any candidate but for the welfare of Lowell and of all her citizens collectively.

The candidates to be chosen are to be the servants of the people and upon the judgment of the electorate as shown in the primaries and the final election, will depend whether they are qualified to conduct the city's business or whether they are self-seeking and unscrupulous politicians who are willing to sacrifice the city's interests for their own whenever that may be feasible without risk of detection. First of all we want honest men and secondly, men who are recognized as capable from training and experience to manage large affairs and guide our municipality on the road to prosperity.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES

There is a strange historic parallel between the fate of Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and that of Napoleon, although in ability and character no two human beings could possibly be more different. Napoleon was a genius, perhaps the greatest military leader the world ever saw; but Charles is a weak, effeminate, good for nothing. Like Napoleon, however, he is transported to exile on a British ship with as much formality and apparent dread of his escape as if he were actually a man of power and resource.

He contrived to use an airplane to take him back into the country of which he wished to be the accepted ruler; but when he met resistance, he was helpless even in the matter of escape. He goes now to Madeira with his wife, and it is presumed that he will be kept there for life; but he has learned something of the use of airplanes in making a rapid getaway, and so we expect to see him make his escape and reach the coast of America. Of course, even in his deposition and exile he must still have some friends who will help to get him released from prison and given his freedom. If only to take up life anew in some Spanish colony or in one of the South American republics.

It was reported that Charles attempted to commit suicide after his arrest in Hungary. That indicated the smallness of the man. If he cared so little for his life, why didn't he put up a battle in support of his claims to the Hungarian throne? He will have ample opportunity to end his existence in his new abode. If that weakness still haunts him, but he should remember that a good many better men than he are working down in the holds of ships, in coal mines, as day laborers on farms, conductors on street cars or brakemen on railroads. Besides, he should consider himself fortunate that at a time when some prominent rulers lost their heads as well as their crowns, he was given so much consideration as to be honored with a home on an island in the ocean where he will doubtless have a measure of freedom, plenty of fresh air and a view of the broad Atlantic not far from the pillars of Hercules. Charles had better forget the past and seek permission to use his efforts in earning an honest living like other folks.

GERMAN CRASH IMMINENT

Germany is on the point of bankruptcy on account of the exhaustion of her raw material for manufacture and the lack of gold to purchase a supply. It appears that the German banks were recently besieged by manufacturers and merchants wanting to purchase United States gold with which to secure raw materials to keep their factories and other lines of business running. Germany has been turning out a great volume of manufactured products; and in spite of all the efforts of her statesmen to check the depreciation of the mark, it has gone lower and lower until it is now reduced from its normal value of 23 cents down to half a cent. This is the natural result of turning out German marks on printing presses without restriction as to the number and without guarantee of redemption in any reliable form of currency. Those who have invested heavily in German marks with the hope that the mark would soon recover its former value, have practically lost their entire investment.

The financiers of Germany are now at their wits end in trying to avert a financial crash that will see the industries ruined and leave the government unable to meet its obligations. One of the leading German statesmen has declared that unless America induces the entente powers to recognize a moratorium which will give Germany a chance to breathe, nothing can avert a terrific crash. Industrial magnates led by Hugo Stinnes, the foremost financial genius of the country, have resumed negotiations with the government for a loan of a billion and a half gold marks for a long term of years. Stinnes has stated that he is willing to put through the loan provided the government and the people drop all their socialist schemes and co-operate in averting the impending crash.

It is also declared that the depreciation of the German mark has increased the government expenditures to the extent of three billion paper marks within ten days. No government in the world could stand such a strain as that; and hence it remains to be seen whether Germany will be able to avert a financial cataclysm that will close her banks and suspend all the busy factories throughout the country.

WITHOUT STREET CARS

Des Moines has been without street car service for eleven weeks, the car company having ceased to operate because of the competition of motor busses. The city is now to grant the company a new franchise which will provide that the busses cannot operate on lines covered by the street cars but may run at right angles across the car lines in carrying passengers through the city. The street cars are to be operated on the service-at-cost basis beginning with an eight cent fare to be lowered whenever returns justify a reduction.

The business men of Des Moines were most insistent upon the return of the street cars as their suspension had seriously affected business on the principal streets. While the busses served the working people to a limited extent, they did not accommodate the public generally as much as did the street cars. The experience of Des Moines has been duplicated in many other cities and is the logical outcome of allowing competition to cut into a business already barely self-supporting. While there are some complaints in Lowell on account of the ten cent fare for the shortest rides and no very long rides without a second fare, yet if the street cars were suspended, we presume they would be missed quite as much in Lowell as in Des Moines.

By the way, we have not heard much from the state constabulary of late. Wonder how these new officers spend their time. It was understood they would drive reckless autosts, bandits and marauders off the highways; but thus far there is not much indication that the new force exists.

Remember the unemployed. If any man or woman in Lowell is out of work and without means, he or she should see Mayor Thompson, who will provide temporary relief.

Wherever the voters at the polls last Tuesday had an opportunity of selecting between democratic and republican candidates, they showed a decided preference for the former.

Premier Lloyd George promises to attend the conference which implies that he expects to see a few important matters settled before he starts.

It is just possible that the opposition of Attorney General Allen will help Mr. Webster in his campaign for mayor of Boston.

Certainly no dearth of candidates for public office. Look them over and take your choice.

In the reelection of Mayor Hyman in New York, Tammany has won one of its greatest victories.

The five-cent fare is getting pretty popular everywhere except in Lowell.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

In the neatly printed program of studies for 1921-22, issued by the Lowell high school faculty for distribution among parents and pupils, I find a little brochure on "Notes on Courtesies of Study."

"The teachers of the school will gladly give parents and pupils assistance and advice in the selection of studies."

Of course, this is not surprising when you know Headmaster Henry H. Harris and his co-workers in this great institution of knowledge and culture; but I was frankly impressed by the methods of dealing with parents and pupils when I happened to call on the headmaster yesterday to obtain certain information about a new pupil. Mr. Harris is an exceptionally busy man always. Yet he dispenses of the day's work without seeming exertion and undue haste. I was struck by his display of even temper and kindness when advising pupils who appeared before him with records of tardiness and slothfulness. There was no attempt to frighten the young people—no threats and no perfections of discipline. He told Mr. Harris used words of a most persuasive nature, yet he expressed his admonitions with spirited phrases aimed directly at the marks of dereliction. One pupil came in for advice concerning studies he desired to take up on a transfer card from an out of town school. In a twinkling Mr. Harris straightened out his perplexities, and the pupil and his anxious parent departed, feeling greatly relieved.

Now the mothers are buying 'em and making Pauline and Joe eat them as a medical remedy for certain ailments. Signs advertising "yeast cakes" are not or ice cream are beginning to appear everywhere now.

The Armistice night religious service in St. Anne's church was planned to arouse patriotism as well as honor with solemnity for the brave dead of the late war. I was informed at the rectory yesterday that the hymnal service had been arranged for in advance, and that the usual patriotic tunes of American herald were not to be on the program. As the services were planned to inspire the young and old of the living, but rather to honor the glorious dead, who gave their last full measure of devotion that the world might remain free. That is why the hymns were selected with so much care. There were on the program "O God of Love," also James Russell Lowell's famous hymn, "Once to Every Man and Nation Comes the Word," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," of course, was also on the list.

Lowell clergymen have been reading some interesting things in Pennsylvania religious weeklies lately. Word comes north that clergymen, sextons, organists, chorists, assistants and all other persons employed by churches come under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law of Pennsylvania and must be insured by the churches employing them. In that respect, according to officials of the compensation board, churches are in the same class as owners of factories and railroads. Most churches have taken out insurance for their pastoral leaders and other employees. Churches that neglect to do so will be compelled to, as the law is written in that state. Pastors are not doing hazardous work always, but many of them move around a good deal, and are great travelers. Insurance will tend to protect their families if they are incapacitated.

Open-air sun parlors on Middlesex street are the rage nowadays, when cold winds sweep down the street and the shady sides of the thoroughfares are bleak when the temperature is low. Yesterday, walking down Middlesex street, the other day, I discovered a real "sun spot" on the sidewalk in front of one of the buildings connected with the big mills. There is a stretch of brick walk about 100 feet long just this side of Marion street, a favorite spot for the unemployed and others, who enjoy the sunshine every day, along the stretch. It is easy and enjoy their pipes, swap stories and watch the autos slip by. They appear untroubled like the waters of Venice.

Upset Stomach,
Gas, Indigestion

"Pape's Diapepsin" gives Relief in Five Minutes

Stomach acidity causes indigestion. Food souring, gas, distress? Wonder what upset your stomach? Well, don't bother! The moment you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the "bump" of indigestion pain, the sourness, heartburn and burning of gases, due to acidity, vanishes—wonderful! Millions of people know that it is useless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once—no waiting! Buy a standard box of Pape's Diapepsin. It doesn't stain, is palatable, regulates your stomach so you can eat favorite foods without causing regret—adv.

Before Jebson went in for his examination Jebson senior impressed on him not only the flat of his head, but some sound advice. "Answer every question shortly and concisely and literally, and you won't be far wrong." A member of the Stock Exchange was not in a good temper when he rang the bell to dictate his letters. One communication had annoyed him, and this is how he replied to it: "Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your letter of yesterday's date. NATIONAL CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING MOVEMENT

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—For the second time this year farmers of the country meet here today to consider launching of a national co-operative marketing movement. This time it is of livestock. After working nine months a farmers' livestock committee of the American Farm Bureau named by the American Farm Bureau Federation brings in its report today to a ratification conference representative of livestock producers.

Unlike the national grain marketing plan adopted last spring and incorporated in the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., the livestock plan calls for no pool nor contract covering a period of years. Establishment of a national livestock producers' association is one of the outstanding features of the program laid before today's meeting. More important yet, as the heart of the plan, is the creation of co-operative livestock commission associations at the various stockyards, with allied stocker-and-feeder companies.

Co-operative livestock commission companies, which have recently grown numerous, are to be strengthened. A program of orderly marketing is to be worked out. A transportation department is to be created. Livestock statistics are to be interpreted. In addition it is advancing public appreciation of meat as a food.

What the plan proposes to do, in short, is to greatly extend the co-operative marketing of livestock from the farmer to the packinghouse, to do this through a national organization, overseeing, dovetailing and working out plans, and to eventually regulate to a considerable degree the flow of livestock to market so as to prevent glut and disastrous price-breaks.

What is expected of the farmer is a larger voice in the sale of his livestock, a saving in marketing costs, a saving in purchase and sale of stocker and feeder cattle and eventually a more, stabilized market. Through large numbers of farmers marketing together it is anticipated they may be able to sell to better advantage than the individual farmer does today.

If the plan is ratified today, as it is anticipated it will be, formation is expected at this meeting of several co-operative livestock commission houses have recently been formed, and more will be established as soon as practicable.

The livestock business runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually and proponents of the plan anticipate a substantial share of this but have no expectation of getting it all. Extension of the plan will chiefly affect small and medium, privately owned livestock commission firms on the various markets, according to the committee, which says it is generally recognized there are too many of these now operating to handle the business efficiently.

The problem of orderly marketing, however, does not admit of so ready an approach. The orderly marketing subcommittee reports today that the orderly marketing of livestock is a long time process. There is no easy way or any outstanding short cuts.

A broad campaign of education, dependable statistical information, intelligently interpreted, organization of large numbers of producers on a strictly co-operative basis, and some regulation of conditions and volume of production are declared essential to orderly marketing.

Chairman of the committee bringing in the report of livestock marketing committee is C. H. Gustafson of Lincoln, Neb., who performed a similar task this spring for the farmers' grain marketing committee of seventeen. H. W. Memorial, director of the livestock marketing department of the Illinois Agricultural association, is secretary of the committee.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Ordeals

HAIL to you, Foch, who in dark days and terrible stood unperturbed, undismayed and undaunted; Hail! for you doggedly bore the unbearable; Never by doubt was the soul of you haunted! Yet though you shrank not when shell-fire was battering, Though you won through to a victory shining, Hark—hear the plates and the cullery clattering, Well may you tremble at dining—and dining!

YOU who were calm when the cannon were thundering, You who were steadfast when others were quaking, You who thought straight when the others were blundering, You who held on when the armies were breaking; Loudly we hail you who conquered all wavering, Silenced the cravens and ended the whining— But, can you bear all the fuss and palavering, Bear all the burden of dining—and dining?

ADEQUATE always to each opportunity, Saving the world from its darkest disaster, You shall hear plaudits in every community— Ever your fame will wax vaster and vaster; Yet when from banquet to banquet they're shunting you (Speeches and speeches, with viands combining) Well may you blench at the prospect confronting you— Dining—and dining! and dining!! and Dining!!!

How to Increase Weight and Put on Solid Stay-There Flesh

What difference does it make to you how EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES puts good, solid, red-blooded, healthy flesh on your bones as long as it does you do today? Weigh yourself at the end of the same time?

Evans' Triple Phosphates is something new and something that really does what is claimed for it. Start to take it today with each meal, and in four days you'll know that you are growing more robust and feel stronger and more active. Continue with the Evans' Triple Phosphates for 10 days more and note with satisfaction that your nerves are growing more responsive; that your ambition does not lag but is cheerfully obedient to your wishes, that a touch of color is appearing in your cheeks and that your circulation seems to be coming a task and is a pleasure. Notice that never before in your whole life have you enjoyed living as you do today. Weigh yourself at the end of one month and let the scales tell the story.

Fred Howard and all good druggists have agreed to supply this run-down, under-developed persons with the treatment that will give most gratifying results. But don't take it even though you are growing more responsive; five troubles and as a general rule, that your ambition does not lag but is cheerfully obedient to your wishes, flesh and gain weight—adv.

German Picture Becomes Ludicrous in Its Seriousness

EMIL JANNINGS AS DANTON AND WERNER KRAUSS AS ROBESPIERRE IN "ALL FOR A WOMAN," A GERMAN FILM BASED ON THE FRENCH "REIGN OF TERROR."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Overlaid with tragedy lends comic relief to the German film based on the French "Reign of Terror." The film, distributed in America by First National, is called "All For A Woman."

Emil Jannings in the role of George Danton is as much of a buffoon as Titus Ruffo is in "Pagliacci." Werner Krauss strives for dramatic effect with a stare so fixed that he seems to be afflicted with cataracts. The other characters in the play are so ridiculously enacted that groups of them in action look like morose in conversation, or the horrible examples exhibited at a clinic of psychiatrists.

However, the movie contains one great moment that demonstrates exactly what "mob psychology" means. That term has been rather meaninglessly employed in connection with screen and stage action and reaction. Danton, liberator of the French peasantry and bourgeoisie, a national hero, is brought to trial by Robespierre, once his co-worker and now his enemy.

The trial court is packed with hundreds of the rabble. The judge, examining Danton, asks, "Your name and place of abode?"

Danton laughs. "What a silly question! The mob howls at the joke. Doesn't the judge know who Danton is?"

With the crowd laughing with him, Danton appeals to its members to decide his case. They rush past the guards. They are about to free him when the cries of the court announce that free food is being distributed outside.

The mob rushes from the court, their patriotic ardor forgotten for the comfort of their stomachs.

Danton and his friends are sentenced to die immediately. Before the rabble can fill its stomachs and return to the business of patriotism, Danton and his colleagues are claimed by the guillotine.

There is no doubt that Europeans are striving for story worth in their movies, as Chaplin told me after his return from Europe. He said Europeans look upon American films as not being serious enough.

My observation has been that Europeans, especially the Germans, take their seriousness too seriously. Stressing their earnestness, they lose sight of their story and overdo their characterizations. As a result their films often have the same reaction upon their viewers as a burnt steak has upon a delicate appetite—not well done, but too well done.

"All For A Woman" is illustration of this. As the title suggests, one expects a woman to occupy the central role. The director probably meant to show that Danton fell from grace and went to his death because of Lucille Desmoulins.

However, she is kept pretty much in the background until Danton embraced her just before he marched to the guillotine. Never once does the director show an attachment between them that would give motive for Danton relinquishing his leadership of the people. The business of being historically and historically serious blotted out the romance of the play.

This reviewer has found little to commend in "All For A Woman." It might, perhaps, be fair to say that Raymond Hitchcock characterized the film as "the most interesting and thrilling picture of the day." And George V. Hobart, dramatist, said of it, "It is a speaking achievement in the photograph of silence, a highlight in a world of shadowgraphs."

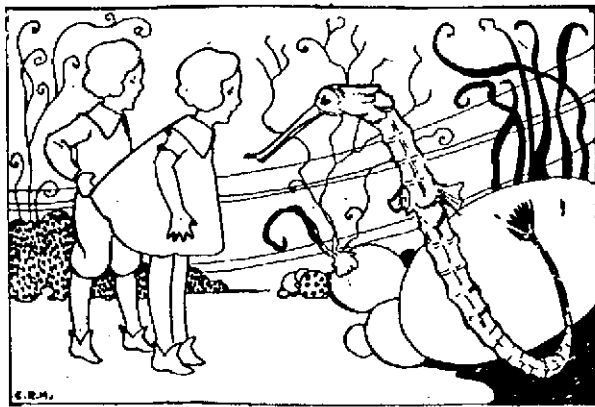

IN THE WAKE OF STARS
Snub Pollard completes "Ten Nights in a Pool Room."
Sylvia Breamer is to play opposite Bert Lytell in "Tommy Carteret."
Viola Dana is to be starred in "The Five Dollar Baby," adapted from an Irvin Cobb story.
Harold Lloyd is working on a comedy, the theme of which is that a man can do whatever he wills to do.
Virginia Ogden, the village gossip in "Way Down East," will play a similar role in "Women of Conquest."
The title role is played by Miss Asta Nielsen in a Danish film version of "Hamlet," to be released in this country.

Put Mr. Fifteen-Spine Stickieback long and thin, like grass-blades, for they could lift up the shell just as easy and slip their mouths under, and Mr. Goby knew it. To say nothing of Spike Star-Fish, who could pick up a cockle-shell with his suckers as easily as you could pick up a raisin cookie with your fingers. Yes, poor, dear Mr. Goby decided that he'd stay at home and starve to death before he'd let anything happen to his children. But he was cross just the same about Mrs. Goby's gadding.

Nancy and Nick went on to Mr. Pipe-Fish's house, but he was away. They met him, however, hunting for his wife. "I take the eggs along when I go," said he, tapping his pocket. "Then they're safe." The kiddies looked on in wonder, for Mr. Pipe-Fish looked too thin to move himself around, let alone a batch of eggs. What queer funs the Wigglefishes were! In the sand under a great cockle-shell. But he was afraid of the pipe-fishes.

and the exercise of undue influence over litigation before courts by a Massachusetts supreme court justice was begun by a Suffolk grand jury yesterday. The allegations, which also involve an attorney acting as trustee of certain properties in litigation, have been made in connection with receivership proceedings in the cases of the Henry Woods Sons Co. and the Waban Rose conservatories, both of Wellesley.

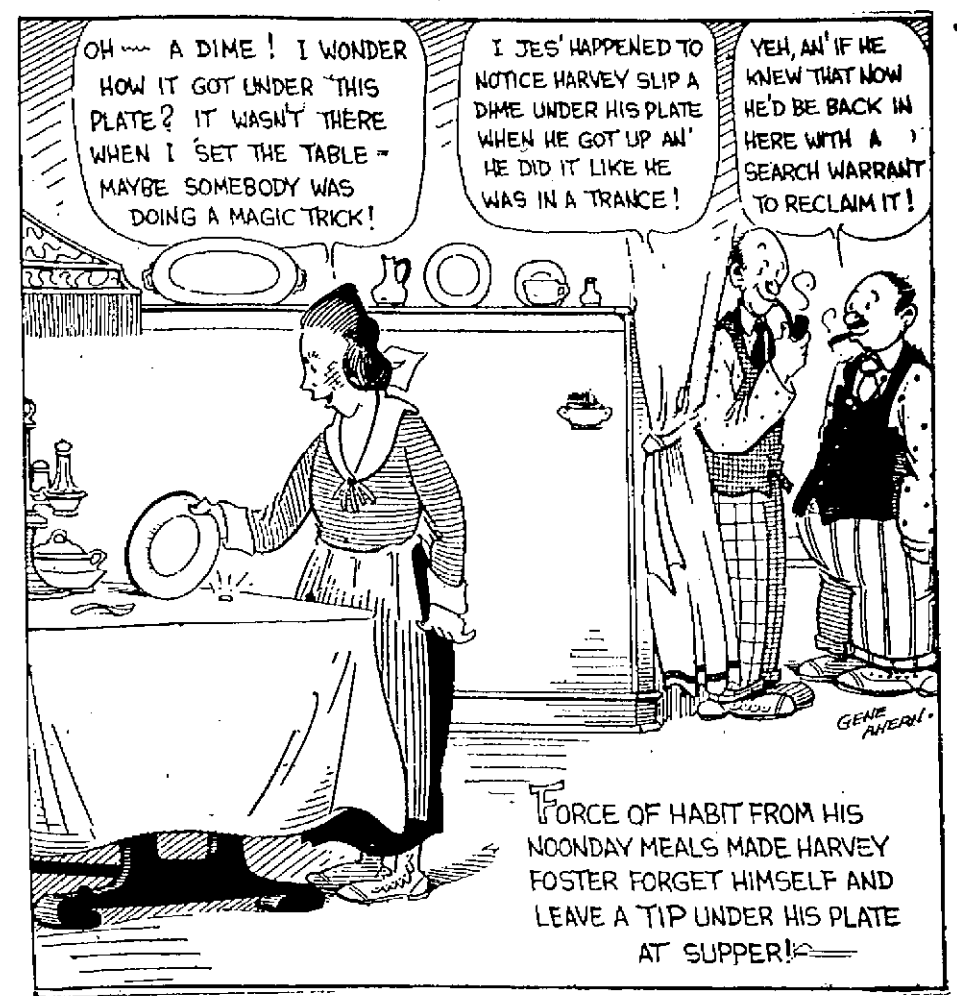

The justice named in the charges was alleged to have received hundreds of dollars' worth of roses, cord wood and other presents through the conservatory over a period of years in which a maze of litigation involving the two Wellesley properties came before the state courts. The justice was said in the charges to have defeated attempts to prosecute persons for alleged wrongdoing in connection with the property.

Eight witnesses, including a police sergeant investigator for the district attorney, were summoned before the grand jury yesterday. The proceedings were of "John Doe" character.

These two easy Rinso steps have changed the washday habits of New England

Women have known for a long time that slowly but surely the bending over the washboard for hours at a time was wearing them to skin and bones.

Not just this week's wash, nor next week's, but week after week of it, year in, year out.

Yet the family washing had to be done, even at the expense of their youth and strength.

Today all this is changed. Women all over New England have been quick to see that the two easy Rinso steps save all the back breaking rubbing of washday. Now they just let their clothes soak themselves clean in the rich soapy Rinso suds and then they rinse them—without any hard rubbing. Pure cleansing materials are so perfectly blended in Rinso that all the dirt is loosened and dissolved from even the heavy pieces of the weekly wash without injury to a single fabric. Only the most soiled spots need to be rubbed at all and these just lightly.

Your clothes soak as safely in Rinso as in water alone. Rinso comes in the regular size, 8c, and the big, new size, 30c. Get a package today. Don't rub your youth away. Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

PARK DEPARTMENT BUSY

Improvements at Fort Hill Park and at Shedd—Big Force at Work

The park department is making some important improvements at Fort Hill park. The road leading to the summit has been repaired and parts of it reconstructed. A granolithic sidewalk with grass border has been laid from the park entrance on Rogers street to Hanks street. On the opposite side of Rogers street, the Rogers Hill school has contractors laying a granolithic walk with space for grass border from Hanks street to Fort Hill ave. At either end the corner has been rounded by the street department, which was particularly great at the corner of Fort Hill avenue and Rogers street.

The park department has been pretty busy during the past few weeks in many places. New shrubbery has been planted at Wannalancet park in Pawtucketville during the past week. The hydrants at Shedd park have been put in working order in preparation for the flooding of the park for skating. The flooding will take place between the first and tenth of December. In the new few days a row of oaks will be planted from Rogers street along Knappe avenue to the cemetery in order to further beautify that district.

At present there are more men on the park department payroll than ever before. Supt. Kernan is doing this in an effort to help out the unemployed. His hardest task just at present is to satisfy the demand for permits for the use of the playgrounds, the Fair grounds in particular. Mr. Kernan thinks that in future years it would be a good thing if the local teams would draw lots for the grounds or form a league similar to the Twilight League in baseball. This would prevent clashes and controversies and facilitate the letting of the grounds to the best advantage.

WESTFORD TOWN MEETING
Herbert E. Fletcher was elected moderator at the special town meeting held in Westford Tuesday night. The article relative to appropriating money for school purposes, was taken on the table. WENT TO BUY LIQUOR, ROBBED OF $1500

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 10.—Alexander Rullis of Chicopee, Mass., and Charles Talonia, of Springfield, Mass., complained to the police last night, that six armed men robbed them of $1500 in a tenement building here on Monday night. After questioning by the police, the men admitted that they came here to purchase liquor after meeting a man in Chicopee who told them of a large shipment of whiskey arriving in Hartford from New York.

The informant escorted them to this city, they said, and led them to a back room in a tenement building in Windsor street, where they were confronted by five men with revolvers, they said. After taking $500 in cash from the pair, Talonia was invited to write a check for $1000 which he did, according to their statement.

Five of the men departed and the other man kept them under guard for four hours and then released them, they said.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily made at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. If desired, instead of a full pint, a family supply—just costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and all kinds of asthma. It contains a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

and Vet

Charles Edward Austin, veteran of the Civil War and old-time musician and cabinet maker, believes Merrimack square to be about the best little spot for recreation that there is in Lowell. He likes to come down town in an automobile and ride through the busy streets that intersect out in front of The Sun building. He has traveled during his lifetime in Lowell, although the popular music store that he used to conduct just around the corner on Bridge street, about where Fairburn's market is today, is a thing of the misty past.

Turn back the pages of the old music book: Remember the time when you danced to the inspiring strains of "Maggie Murphy's Home" and "After the Ball?"

Tap your memory wires again and see if you can hum "On the Banks of the Wabash Far Away" or "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon."

Have you forgotten "Annie Rooney," "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," "My Mother Was a Lady" and all the other sentimental ballads of those bygone days when popular songs were just beginning to attract attention and "My Old New Hampshire Home" was about the biggest hit that ever came from the pen of the song writers?

Those were the happy days in Lowell music stores! And the sudden advent of "rag" brought in the money—Oh, yes, indeed!

Those were the days when Charles Edward Austin's music store on Bridge street was a popular spot for Lowell song and dance artists, concert singers, orchestral players, church organists and choirs. And today, Mr. Austin, 51 years old and nearly as good as ever, will tell you, if you drop in at his home at 15 Smith street, just how it happened. And you will be well paid for your visit.

Only don't stay too long. For Mr. Austin is not quite so spry as he was when he used to repair organs and pianos and melodions, and even manufacture every part of the musical instruments with his own hands and tools if necessary. Today he suffers from a physical disability that comes with the years, but his memory is unclouded, his general health excellent, and he is proud to say, he can eat as well as he ever did, and he is always mightily proud of his appetite.

Mr. Austin, who was born March 11, 1870, is fond of the Merrimack square business district with its cheerful clutter, and shifting scenes of the modern panorama sort. He likes nothing better than to ride down there every other day or so in his daughter's motor car and see the passing throng.

By that corn steps hurtling on shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—Adv.

Dr. Howard always recommended OXIDAZE FOR COUGHS, COLDS BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Years of study and observation convinced him it would safely, quickly and surely bring a cold and give instant relief in Bronchial Asthma. Guaranteed harmless.

Here is absolute proof from users: Worcester, Mass.—No asthma, thanks to Oxidaze. Salem, W. Va.—We find it all you claim. Kendal, Col.—Am well pleased with results. Circleville, O.—More help than from anything. Somerset, Mass.—It gives full satisfaction. Detroit, Mich.—It has benefited me greatly. Worcester, Mass.—Is worth thousands to me. Keene, N. H.—I speak in highest praise of it. Fenton, Mich.—I got nearly instant relief. Howell, Mich.—For asthma, best I've found. Cincinnati, O.—It is a wonderful medicine. Smiths Basin, N. Y.—Delighted with Oxidaze. Rochester, Mass.—Cough gone, gained eight pounds. Signed letters on file. Order today. Merck & Co. is a chemist, Lowell Pharmacy can supply you.—Adv.

MOTHER!
Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation of the syrup.—Adv.

MISERABLE WITH INDIGESTION

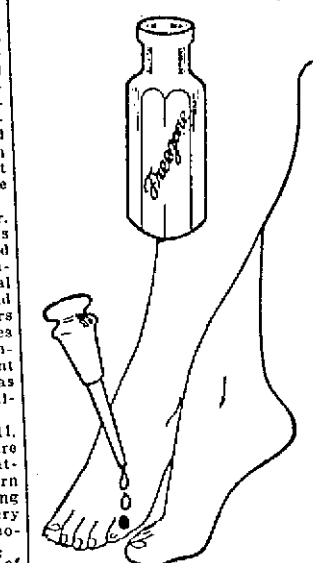

One Box of "Fruit-a-Lives" Brought Relief

OLD CHATEAU, COLUMBIA CO., N. Y.
"I was bothered with Constipation, Liver Trouble and Indigestion for three years, and tried all kinds of medicine without relief. I was so bad I would have a dull, heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach after eating. I saw "Fruit-a-Lives" advertised and bought two 50c boxes. Before I had finished one box, I was relieved and now have no more trouble. I recommend these Fruit-a-Lives Tablets."

INGROWN TOE NAIL
TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Ostera" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so loosens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Ostera" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT PRO-ROGUED TODAY

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The session of parliament which opened in February, ends today with the prorogation of both houses by royal commission after the brief autumn sitting which began Oct. 18. This special meeting which the government was able to arrange on short notice, due to the fact that parliament had merely adjourned, was summoned to deal with the question of unemployment. While this problem was duly taken care of the interest of the members has been mainly focused on the Irish peace negotiations.

FIX DATE TO ANNOUNCE R. R. WAGE REDUCTIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Decision on the date when announcements of wage reductions will be posted by eastern railroads, was to be reached at a meeting of the Association of Railway Executives here today. Another meeting, at which problems involved in the proposed reduction by 10 per cent of the wages of train service workers were to be considered, was to be held by the eastern presidents' conference. It was forecast the wages of men in the shop crafts and of unskilled laborers would be cut to the going rate for the same class of work in other industries.

Under the provision of the transportation act, 30 days' notice of wage reductions must be given, and at the expiration of this time conferences will be held between representatives of the roads and their employees. Disputed cases will then be filed with the railway labor board in Chicago. The decision of the labor board yesterday, in which the wages of virtually all classes of employees of the New Orleans and Great Northern railroad were cut 10 per cent, gave the railroad executives reason to believe the board would act at once on any cases referred to it.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Forty municipalities in the state, outside New York city, elected mayors yesterday. Republicans elected 21 of their candidates and the democrats 15. Three fusion nominees were successful, and in Saratoga Springs there was but a single candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Plans for reorganization of the New York post office and use of armored trucks for the transportation of valuable mail were announced today by Hubert Work, first assistant postmaster general.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Favorable report on the nomination of Henry L. Johnson, negro republican national committeeman from Georgia, to be recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, was ordered today by the senate.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Seven clergymen today exchanged the ministerial frock for laborer's overalls and went to work in the building trades. It was a one-day job for them, the result of an invitation by the Central Labor union in return for the clergymen's courtesy in asking labor leaders recently to speak from their pulpits.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Cecil Harmsworth, undersecretary for foreign affairs, replying to a question in the house of commons today stated the government had received a report that an anti-bolshevik revolution had broken out in the southwestern part of Russia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—John W. Riddis, a former ambassador to Russia, was nominated today by President Harding to be ambassador to Argentina.

Insurrection Breaks Out In Montenegro

LONDON, Nov. 9.—An insurrection has broken out in Montenegro for the purpose of securing Montenegrin independence from Serbia, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome, today, which connects the insurrection with the Albanian situation. A Montenegrin battalion, says the message, has seized the highly important strategic height of Mount Lovcen. Vast forest fires, alleged to have been started by the Serbs, are raging in the vicinity of Podgoritza.

Winter Weather Throughout West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Winter weather prevailed today throughout portions of the middle west. Reports to the weather bureau said heavy snow had fallen in southern Michigan, extreme northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin, southeastern Minnesota and eastern Iowa. Snow was falling early today along the lower lakes, the northern edge of New York and in northern New England, the bureau's reports said, and generally east of the Mississippi where snow was not falling it was raining.

Boston Mayorality Candidates Get Papers

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Nomination papers were issued today to seven candidates for mayor. The candidates who appeared before the election commissioners in person to receive the papers, were Charles S. Baxter, former mayor of Medford; James M. Curley, former mayor of Boston; Daniel M. Lane, member of the city council; John R. Murphy, former fire commissioner; Charles S. O'Connor, a member of the school committee; Joseph C. Pelletier, district attorney of Suffolk county and John Sweeney, describing himself as a "socialist labor man." No designations will appear on the ballot. The election will be held Dec. 13. Candidates have until Nov. 22 to file their papers.

Youth Kills Mother By Accident

FAIRLEE, Vt., Nov. 9.—Floyd Marshall, 18 years of age, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Allerton P. Marshall, by accident at their home here today. He was preparing a shotgun for a hunting trip when it accidentally discharged. Mrs. Marshall died instantly.

SAYS KILLING OF M'NALLY JUSTIFIED

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 9.—Albert C. Dow, who fired at a group of men who were leaving his house early on Nov. 2, and killed Thomas McNally of Medford, Mass., was declared by Coroner J. J. Phelan today to have been justified in the act. McNally and several companions were said to have been attempting to remove liquor from Dow's cellar when Dow was awakened and fired at the men.

ENGLAND BEGINS PAYING INTEREST ON DEBT

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—A loan arrangement has been made to begin paying the interest on the debt owed by Great Britain to the United States at the rate of 60,000,000 pounds yearly. It was announced in the house of commons today by Sir Robert Horne, the chancellor of the exchequer.

ALBANIANS HALT JUGO-SLAV TROOPS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The advance of Jugo-Slav troops in Albania has been arrested by heavy counter attacks by Albanians, says a Central News despatch from Rome today quoting a message from Valona to Tempo.

MASKED MEN

WRECK NEWSPAPER

EAST CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 9.—Four masked men broke into the Twin City Sentinel Newspaper plant early today, overpowered night watchman and wrecked the printing press, linotypes and other equipment. The damage may total $20,000. The Sentinel, a recently organized publication, supported John E. Reppa, republican candidate for mayor, who was defeated in yesterday's election by Frank Callahan, independent.

TO CUT WAGES IN PACKING HOUSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—A general cut in wages of packing house workers was forecast today when four of the big five—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co.—requested their employees to consider, in the plant councils, a reduction in pay to be made effective in the near future. No definite amount was mentioned, and officials said their conferences had not determined the size of the reduction to be sought.

Morris & Co., the only one of the big five which has not established employee councils, is expected to make any reduction which the others may agree on.

Dramatic Reading by Author,
Actor and Lecturer in Colonial Hall

Frederick Paulding Also Gives Splendid Dissertation
on the Modern Drama

Affair Was Under Auspices of the Lowell Teachers'
Organization

The Lowell Teachers' organization was present in force in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon despite the stormy weather to listen to a dramatic reading by Frederick Paulding, author, actor and lecturer, and were treated to a splendid dissertation on the modern drama as well as a highly dramatic and enjoyable reading of Paul Hervieu's play, "La Courbe du Flambeau" ("The Trail of the Torch").

Mr. Paulding was introduced by Miss Caroline Downey, president of the association, as a native born American, a great-grand-nephew of Washington Irving and first cousin of the beloved ex-governor of North Carolina, Robert Glenn. He has played over 500 characters during his stage career, ranging from Shakespearean drama to modern farce, and has supported nearly all the great actors of the day.

In his prefatory remarks Mr. Paulding emphasized women's potential influence for the reform of stage and moving picture offerings of today. He urged that they use that influence. He stated that in selecting a play for his reading he had read over no less than 31 French plays, and found just one with a virtuous heroine—and she was a forger. This was from the pen of Paul Hervieu and was called "La Courbe du Flambeau." It presents one of the most violent contrasts in French literature, and has a decided lesson for all. The play derives its name from an ancient Greek festival in which many people arranged themselves at intervals and carried a lighted torch one to the other and becoming so intent in keeping the flame alight that every other consideration was lost sight of. Women, in their schools and absorbing mother-love, present a similar aspect.

Maternal love is the keynote of this play. It concerns Madame Fontenais, the grandmother; Sabine Revel, her daughter, and Marie-Jeanne, the grandchild, a girl of 11. Stangy, Sabine's son, is a young man who is ultimately married to Marie-Jeanne, and an old plot device in carrying on the plot, which deals with a mother and child entirely dependent on the grandmother, who has almost been forgotten by her daughter, Sabine, a widow who loves Stangy, a mild, inebriated bachelor, but who holds him in abeyance because of her love for her daughter, Marie-Jeanne. Stangy has become discouraged and is going to America. In the first scene read by Mr. Paulding, Stangy and Sabine meet at the daughter's 17th birthday party, and although she admits reciprocal love, she tells him to go to his father's house, immediately afterward it develops that the daughter has decided to marry Didier, and the dutiful mother consents gracefully.

Four years later finds Didier a bankrupt and Marie-Jeanne prostrate through worry and ineffectual therapy. She and Didier implore Sabine to write to America, to her father, to assist Didier in the crisis in his fortunes, and Sabine, to save her pride, since Stangy has so definitely cast her off, forges her mother's name to a draft and is discovered. She finally writes to Stangy for the desired assistance. The doctor orders Marie-Jeanne to a milder climate, and warns her to move to a warmer climate, promising her to take her mother, Marie-Jeanne, along, since she has a weak heart. Madame, however, insists on going and will not finance the trip on any other condition. She is finally allowed to accompany Marie-Jeanne. The next scene, at the health resort, finds Marie-Jeanne suddenly proved indeed to be a health invalid, and the scene, having received the letter from Sabine, which has followed him on his travels and finally reached him. He readily consents to assist Didier, appointing him manager of his business in Louisiana and Marie-Jeanne decides to accompany him. Stangy and Sabine meet and it develops that Stangy is married and has come to the resort for his wife's health. On top of this shock comes the announcement of Marie-Jeanne's contemplated departure, and the combination overcomes poor Sabine, who takes her troubles to her mother, who consoles her and explains that she is undergoing the common lot of motherhood in being forsaken by her daughter, distracted by the multiplicity of afflictions.

Miss Downey announced before introducing Mr. Paulding that the next meeting of the association would take place at the Normal school on Dec. 13 when an all-day session of the teachers' institute will be held.

THE COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE

Interesting Lecture by Superintendent of Schools at the Hamilton Mill

First in Series of Lectures
Planned for the Winter
Months

"The community enterprise" was the topic of an interesting lecture delivered by Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Molloy at the meeting of the Hamilton mill manufacturing association at the plant in Jackson street last night. The lecture was the first of a series planned for the winter months. Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be the speaker at the next lecture, the date of which has not yet been decided. On the evening of January 13, the third lecture will be given by Hon. E. Mark Sullivan of Boston.

The meeting was called to order by Agent A. E. Milliken, who after outlining the purpose of the lecture introduced the president of the organization, Michael E. Carthy, who in turn presented the speaker of the evening. Agent Milliken told of the success the mill is having in conducting Americanization classes and praised the city officials for the splendid cooperation given by the Lowell school department to the city's industries.

Classes for naturalization are held daily during the noon hour in rooms of the mill, Mr. Milliken said, and the pupils are showing unusual interest. After paying the mill officials a glowing tribute for the efficient manner in which they were carrying on the Americanization classes, Supt. Molloy described popular education as being the greatest community enterprise, because it is most important in its results and because everybody, regardless of political conviction, religious creed or nationality, can obtain it.

Speaking of Americanization the lecturer said that there is more to that subject than mere knowledge of the English language and he deplored the fact that many persons do not know what is really meant by Americanism. "The world is not made up of wealth," Supt. Molloy said, "but it is composed of men and women who plan to carry on an enterprise."

The speaker told of the first accomplishment of the early settlers in this country, that of establishing schools. "They not only established them, but they frequented them," he went on, "and then they laid the foundation of what we today call the spirit of America."

The foundation of the institution of America, Supt. Molloy asserted, is the desire of religion, faith in God, belief in God and education. The speaker touched briefly on a subject which he said was at that very minute under discussion in Lowell namely: "What's wrong with the world?"

"That is probably a difficult answer to make," Supt. Molloy continued, "but I cannot see anything particularly wrong with the world except that it has forgotten, for a short time, and only for a short time, I believe, that it must labor as incessantly and as diligently to keep things worth while as it did to secure them."

The speaker criticized those who speak of "fads" in the public schools or who claim the educational system has degenerated during the last 25 years. He said that these people speak without knowledge, never having visited the class rooms and never bothered to look into the inner surface of the great American schooling system.

"The schools of the country have steadily grown, and particularly so in Massachusetts, the pioneer state in educational movements," the speaker added. "Right here in Lowell during the last two years we have established a free dental clinic, medical inspection, a vocational school, in which is taught the household arts for girls and trades for boys, a continuation school, an open air class for delicate pupils, and a slight saving class, all vast modern improvements which are helping to raise the standard of education."

One purpose of education is to know the truth, Supt. Molloy said, and he who does not know it should be taught to search for it until he finds it. That education costs more today than it ever did was admitted by Supt. Molloy. "It costs a great amount, a tremendous amount," he concluded, "but money spent on education is spent wisely."

IN SILENT PRAYER
Telephone Operators Will
Honor the Unknown Dead

During the two minutes following noon tomorrow, while the body of the unknown soldier is being lowered into the grave at Arlington cemetery, at the nation's capital, there will be a complete cessation of telephone service in the territory of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company.

At a given signal at the stroke of noon the operators at every switchboard will cease answering calls and standing at their switchboards, will observe the recommendation in the president's proclamation asking all to pause for two minutes in silent thanksgiving and prayer.

Telephone employees were notably earnest workers in war service organizations and the patriotic spirit survives in a marked degree. When the president's Armistice day proclamation in connection with the ceremonies attending the burial of the unknown soldier, suggested that all be permitted to observe it in the manner already designated.

The suggestion was heartily approved by the management. A notice to telephone users of the company's intention to cease service during this two-minute period is published on the signature of W. R. Oliver, Jr., vice president and general manager.

Manager Leathers of the local exchange announced today that the business office at the exchange would be closed all day tomorrow, the telephone service to be continued, of course, as usual.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Settlement This Morning in Cases of Lowell Parties
Against Lawrence Man

The cases of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson of Lowell against Thomas J. Sullivan of Lawrence, were settled out of court this morning, by counsel. The cases came up for trial yesterday in superior court, Judge Bishop presiding. The testimony taking up most of the session.

Mrs. Emerson's suit was an action of tort for $5000 for personal injuries sustained when an auto driven by Mr. Sullivan on the night of February 1, on the Lawrence-Lowell road. Mr. Emerson's suit was for a like amount to recover for damages to his auto, a Franklin sedan which was smashed in the accident.

The arguments for both sides were completed yesterday and the court had started his charge when the session closed. The parties met this morning and agreed upon a settlement rather than take the cases to supreme court upon exceptions, as would probably have been the case if a verdict had been rendered. The jury was then dismissed.

LOWELL Y. M. C. A. READY TO

WAS BURNED OUT

The Lowell Y.M.C.A. stands ready to aid the Somerville Y.M.C.A., which was destroyed by fire this week. At the present time the local organization has not heard from the main office in Boston as to what will be done in the way of sending aid to the stricken organization.

The Somerville Y. was completely burned down Tuesday night, the plant being a complete loss. There is no question but what help will be needed and the opinion here is that steps have been taken in Boston to do something for the Somerville branch. However, the local Y stands ready to give whatever aid is called for. At the present time it is engaged in a drive to gain funds to carry on the work for the coming year, but this would not be allowed to interfere in any way in aiding the Somerville people.

It is not within the jurisdiction of the local organization to send help without some order from the main office in Boston. When this order comes there will be no delay from the Lowell section.

172 NAMES ON BALLOT

Complete List of Candidates
Special Registration Sessions Monday

The total number of candidates who filed nomination papers at the office of the election commission yesterday reached 172 before the clock struck 5, the final hour for filing. This leaves but 10 who had withdrawn from the contest after taking out the papers. The totals for each office are: For Mayor, 7; for councilor at large, 52; for ward councilor, 64; and for school committee, 39.

Those who filed papers too late for publication last night were the following:

COUNCILOR AT LARGE
Lucius A. Derby, 148 First street, proprietor of an industrial establishment in Middle street, former member of the city government and prominent in the Sons of Veterans.
Alfred J. Gregoire, 135 Liberty st., conducts a pool parlor at 331 Bridge st., Edward P. Purcell, 280 Fairmount st., a contractor.

Demetrius Damanakos (known as James Danna), 62 Gorham st., proprietor of fruit and confectionery store.

PULLING FALSE FIRE ALARMS

Warning Issued Today By Judge Fisher in Juvenile Court Session

Four Boys Charged With
Sounding False Alarm
Were Fined $12 Each

"The practice of pulling false fire alarms must be stopped in this city," declared Judge Fisher in the juvenile session of the district court today during the arraignment of four young men charged with giving a false alarm for fire. The youths, who gave their names as Carl Wessner, Antonio Perry, James McElhannon and Harry Heanley, were fined $12 each. They ranged in ages between 15 and 19. In prosecuting the cases Deputy Chief of Police Hugh Downey asked the court that severe punishment be meted such offenders as recently the practice of ringing in false alarms had become rather common. The court before imposing judgment severely arraigned the youths and impressed upon them the seriousness of the complaint. It was alleged the youths were responsible for a false alarm pulled in from box 414 on Boston road, Halloween night, Oct. 31. The four defendants were taken into custody several days later and after close questioning by the fire authorities and police charges were preferred against them.

Chief Edward P. Saunders of the fire department has asked the co-operation of the police in searching for the youths who have been making it a habit of pulling in alarms for no cause whatever. On Halloween night two false calls were sent in, the other being from box 617, on Christian Hill. On Oct. 21 a false alarm was rung in from box 69, on Bridge street, but the boys responsible for this offense were under eight years of age and no prosecution was made. Another false call was sent in from box 13, Kilson machine shop on Nov. 3. The fire authorities and the police are making a rigid hunt for the persons responsible for the alarms sent in from Christian Hill Halloween night and from box 13. It is particularly hazardous to cause the fire department to cross Centralville bridge during its present stage of repairs, and the fire officials say that persons who cause the fire apparatus such useless runs involving great danger to both life and property will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Their names must go on the ballot. The drawing for place on the ballot will take place in the aldermanic chamber Monday afternoon at 2.30, and promises to be an interesting procedure, as this has not heretofore been done in city elections.

On next Monday evening, from 7 to 2, there will be two special registration sessions, one at the Lyons street school for wards 4 and 5, and at the Riverside school in Wigginsville, for residents of that section. Tuesday evening, there will be sessions at the same hours at the Colburn school in Lawrence street, for wards 4 and 5, and at the High street engine house for wards 3 and 5. This is the last chance to register for the primaries and all other sections have had their final opportunity.

Parker F. Murphy, who is a candidate for the school committee, is a machinist at the U.S. Cartridge Co. and a laborer, as previously stated. William J. Gavan, who is a candidate for councilor, served as a councilman from ward 4 under the old charter.

Joseph Desmarais of 7 East Pine street, is candidate for councilor in ward 3. He conducts a candy store in Middlesex street.
